'GAG' ORDER OF WILBUR ADMITTED

ROBISON GOES ON STAND AT FALL'S TRIAL

Navy Secretary's Instructions To Admiral, Prohibiting Him From Telling Jury of Confidential Report Dealing With Japan. Explained To Jury In Conspiracy Case.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(I. N. S.)—The "Gag" order issued by Secretary of Navy Wilbur, prohibiting Admiral J. K. Robison, retired, from telling the jury of the Fall-Doheny trial about a confidential navy report in 1921 that Japan was preparing to attack Hawaii, was admitted into evidence today under a formal ruling from the bench.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The "Gag" order issued by Secretary of Navy Wilbur, prohibiting Admiral J. K. Robison, retired, from telling the jury of the Fall-Doheny trial about a confidential navy report in 1921 that Japan was preparing to attck Hawaii, was admitted into evidence today under a formal ruling from the bench.

Justice A. A. Hoehling, presiding over the trial of the former secretary of interior and the millionaire oil operator, took twenty minutes to read his opinion. He held that the order itself was not prejudicial to public safety or affairs.

Defense counsel needed the Wilbur order badly, as in their opening argument they had promised to show the jury that Doheny took the Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, oil storage contract only because he believed it was necessary as an adjunct to national defense in a time of imminent peril.

Robison Takes Stand.

Admiral Robison took the stand for further examination following the court's ruling.

After a prolonged discussion between Robison, Justice Hoehling, Owen J. Roberts, for the government, and Frank J. Hogan, for the defense, the admiral finally, under order of the court, related the nature of the confidential report he had conveyed to Doheny "omitting the names of any foreign power."

Hogan paved the way by asking whether Robison in December, 1921, was in receipt of a report from Admiral Gleaves, at that time with the Pacific fleet.

"Yes."

"What was its nature?"

"That is exactly what I have no right to tell you under Secretary Wilbur's order I recited to Mr. Do-

FIND DEAD BODY OF UNKNOWN MAN

Shot In Head and Concealed In a Gully Southwest Of Sidney.

SIDNEY, Neb., Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Authorities are investigating the apparent murder of an unknown man, whose body was found in a gulley thirty miles southwest of here by two boys who were hunting.

The man had been shot in the head and his body concealed in some brush fifty feet from the highway. He had been dead about one week when found. Heweighed about 160 pounds, had straight, black hair, blue eyes, and was evidently a laborer at one of the Weld county, Colorado, mining camps.

Queen Marie Safely Home At Bucharest

BUCHAREST, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Queen Marie arrived home from her American tour at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and was accorded a tumultuous reception by the populace.

King Ferdinand was astir early today, his physicians having advised him he might safely make his second public appearance within two days, and welcome Queen Marie, Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas home.

The king had a message of cheer for Queen Marie for his physicians advised him that there is no immediate danger to his life, but that his diet and activities must be closely watched to prevent a recurrence of the acute intestinal trouble.

Not since the war has Bucharest been so excited as it was today over the welcome home to the queen. The streets were thronged with thousands.

The suburban palace at Cotrocent received the royal travelers.

Edward Doheny Ordered To Bed

ROCHESTER, Minn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Three or more bandits, armed with high powered rifles, burst into the Olmstead County bank shortly after it opened this morning, covered the employees, scooped up $10,000 in cash, and shot their way out, wounding two policemen, and escaped in an automobile waiting nearby.

LARGER FORCE WILL BE USED

Work On Fraternity Buildingn To Be Rushed, Says Sharp.

Two hundred and fifty workmen will be busy on the new Fraternity building at Thirteenth and N streets within two weeks, said W. E. Sharp today.

This will include skilled granite men laying the courses of the first story, terra cotta men putting in the decorative material on the second floor, and ordinary brick layers. Carpenters, cement pourers and the rest of the present staff will continue their activity. One hundred and fifty-seven men were listed on last week's payroll.

Although progress apparently has not been rapid on the structure, real advances have been made by doing a large portion of the job in factories over the country, says Mr. Sharp. Material has been so ordered that it will not arrive until actually wanted. The first carload of white brick has been shipped from Kataning, Pa.

Mottled terra cotta and pink and grey granite will be used.

More cement has been poured on the new structure now than was required to complete the Terminal building, Mr. Sharp says. This is accounted for by the deep foundations, heavy piles and beams.

Face brick will be used on all four sides so that when the whole is illuminated at night, observers fifteen miles away will see it plainly. Fifteen full stories, a sixteenth half story, and an elevator pent house over all will give it unusual height for Lincoln.

WEHENKEL CASE TO JURY MONDAY

Court At Madison Adjourns Early Saturday Over Week End.

MADISON, Neb., Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Members of the jury which is hearing the first degree murder trial of John Wehenkel, who shot and killed Arthur Carrico in a Tilden garage last June 30, were at their homes today, the court having adjourned until Monday at 9 a. m.

The case is expected to be in the hands of the jury Monday as only rebuttal testimony is left to be given.

Wehenkel admits he killed Carrico but blames Carrico's alleged intimate relations with Mrs. Wehenkel made him insane. The state charges the shooting was premeditated and that Wehenkel is sane.

Less Revenue For November

A loss of 22,171 fares and $1,731 in cash receipts from street railway and bus transportation during November this year, as compared with the same month in 1925, is shown by the Lincoln Traction Co.'s report to the state railway commission. Total fares for November, 1926, were 479,699, yielding 39,617 cash returns. On eight days there was a slight increase over corresponding week days a year ago. The other 22 days displayed a loss.

READY FOR INQUEST IN GIRL'S DEATH

Wisconsin Authorities Seek To Remove Veil Of Mystery Surrounding Slaying Of Clara Olson, 22-Year-Old Farmer's Daughter.

PATHOLOGISTS TO AID AUTHORITIES

An Unclaimed Body Of a Suicide In Morgue At Chicago Becomes Focal Point In Search Eor Boy, Who Threatened To End Life.

PRAIRIE DU CHEIN, Wis., Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—In a setting endowed with all the starkness of an Isben drama, authorities today sought to tear away the veil of mystery surrounding the slaying of Clara Olson, Norse farmer's daughter.

Three pathologists were summoned to view the clay cloaked body of the 22-year-old girl in an effort to determine how she came to her death. Her body was found in a shallow hillside grave, overlooking the home of her missing sweetheart, Erdman Olson, who was been charged with her murder.

Meanwhile the unclaimed body of a suicide in a morgue at Chicago became a new focal point in the search for the boy, who wrote in a farewell letter to his parents that "I would rather take death than captivity." Officers found the youth, who killed himself in a hotel four weeks ago, to be closely similar to Olson.

Seek Clue In Montana.

Investigation also turned to Great Falls, Mont., for a clue, through disclosure that relatives there recently had transmitted to Erdman's family a communication which it was thought might have pertained to his whereabouts. From surrounding states came messages reporting the arrest of suspects as the state made the first move to

May Return Boxing Title To Flowers

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(I. N. S.)—Mickey Walker of New Jersey, will not become middleweight boxing champion of the world as a result of the decision given here last night at the end of ten rounds of fast boxing against Tiger Flowers of Atlanta, by Referee Benny Yanger.

The Illinois boxing commission, at a meeting hastily called this afternoon, was offered a resolution by one member, whose name was withheld that the body reverse the Yanger decision and return the title to Tiger Flowers of Atlanta.

The two other members of the commission were reported to be in accord with the author of the resolution and announcement that Mr. Yanger's decision would not stand was expected later today.

At the same time it was reported a sweeping investigation of the Walker-Flowers bout would be ordered.

This afternoon both Walker and Flowers were called before the commission with Yanger and were subjected to a long quiz.

The Chicago American today stated that charges of "fixing," as well as gambling, have entered the affair and that the commissioners were determined to "go to the bottom of the mess."

The newspaper also said that in addition to returning the title to Flowers, Referee Yanger, formerly a well known pugilist, would "probably be suspended for life."

The commission recently reversed a referee's decision and in that step precedent in returning Flowers' title will be found, it was stated.

HARTINGTON MAN TERRIBLY BURNED

HARTINGTON, Neb., Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Duard Erickson was seriously burned about the face and body when his clothes caught fire while he was trying to pour oil in a kitchen stove. If he lives, surgeons say he will be a cripple, losing his left hand.

Quick action of Mrs. Erickson, who threw a blanket around him as he was enveloped in the flames, saved him from being burned to a crisp. His clothes were saturated by the oil.

CANNOT PAY ELECTION COST

Attorney General Says Procedure Illegal In Municipal Deal.

Former Hastings Mayor Makes Inquiry Concerning Law.

Private corporations seeking to purchase municipally owned waterworks, electric light, and other utility plants have no right to pay the cost of special elections called for the purpose of voting on the sale of such properties by cities and villages owning them, as Attorney General Spillman and Lloyd Dort, his assistant, construe the laws of Nebraska.

The question was put up to the state legal department by William Madgett, former mayor of Hastings and a prominent municipal ownership advocate, who has been instrumental in defeating several purchase propositions in different towns. Following is the letter of nquiry on the subject:

"HASTINGS, Nov. 29.—My Dear Mr. Spillman: Being very much interested in municipal ownership, I would like to have your opinion as to whether or not it is lawful for a corporation to send its agents into municipalities owning their own water, lighting, heating and ice plants and depositing with the officials of that town or city from $500 to $5,000 to cover election expenses, and those public officials agreeing to sell the people's public utilities to the said corporation for a specified amount to be decided upon by the agent and the city officials, provided the election carries. No other bid to be considered.

"This is being done now and has been practiced for some time. It looks to me like picking your own jury and paying them for a de-

Rising City Has School Dedication

A new $65,000 grade and high school building at Rising City was dedicated Friday evening, the principal address being made by State Superintendent Matzen. He was also the speaker at the laying of the cornerstone last Arbor day, April 22, which was done under Masonic auspices. The people of Rising City are very proud of their new edifice, Mr. Matzen reports.

The first floor contains four class rooms and a combination gymnasium and auditorium, with 35 by 60 feet of floor space enclosed by balconies. On the second floor there are an assembly hall and six recitation rooms.

R. F. Prokop is superintendent of the Rising City schools and has six teachers assisting him.

Beaver City Men Interested In Oil

A new corporation formed to conduct oil and gas prospecting operations in southern Nebraska, around Beaver City, has been formed by a number of citizens at that place, under the name of Gilbreath Petroleum & Development Co. Its articles were filed Saturday in the secretary of state's office. They permit the issuance of capital stock up to $64,000, in shares of $50 each.

A long list of incorporators is named, including F. E. Gilbreath, C. C. Copeland, John Stevens, J. F. Fults, E. J. Lambe, C. M. Kelley, Ira Sheets, D. F. Simmons, and others.

Payments Again Exceed Receipts

Saturday was another "red letter day" at the state treasurer's office, or rather a day of red figures. The total receipts amounted to $38,550, while disbursements came to $56,216. The only redeeming feature of the day was that no more warrants against the general fund were brought in to be marked "Registered and not paid for want of funds."

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AND WIFE AIRING FAMILY DISPUTES

Comedian Says Wife Preferred Own Acquaintances and Abused Credit.

Young Wife Says Husband Avoided Her Because "Not Intellectual."

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Overtures for a truce between Charles Chaplin and his estranged wife having failed, they settled down today for a finish fight in court after an exchange of statements which brought some of the family skeletons out of the luxurious closets of the film comedian's Beverly Hills mansion.

Chaplin last night issued a statement to the Associated Press in which he denied Mrs. Chaplin's charge of cruelty. He declared he had opened his circle of friends to her, but that she preferred acquaintances of her own and entertainments staged without the presence of Mr. Chaplin. He also charged she had abused the privilege of unlimited credit he had granted her.

Mrs. Chaplin countered with a statement in which she accused the film comedian of avoiding her because she was "not intellectual." She also maintained she had made many of her own clothes after the marriage.

The latest break followed a conference between attorneys for both Mr. and Mrs. Chaplin in which an effort was made to learn what kind of a property settlement would be necessary to keep the case out of court.

GROUP MAKES $10,000,000 IN STOCK MARKET

Half a Dozen Chicagoans, Headed By A. W. Cutten, Reported Cleared Huge Profit In Baldwin Locomotive Trading.

TREMENDOUS LOSS TO BEARS IS SEEN

Small Floating Supply Makes Coup Fairly Easy —To Make No Attempt to "Corner" Or To Control Company.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Half a dozen Chicago speculators, headed by Arthur W. Cutten, have taken more than $10,000,000 in actual and paper profits out of Wall street in the last thirty days through operations in Baldwin Locomotive stock, The New York Times says today.

They have completely "taken the play" out of the hands of New York men who usually trade in Baldwin, and have mystified Wall street as to their identity and backing. The end of the transaction has not been reached, in the paper's belief, as Baldwin sold at 165 3-4 yesterday, a new high price for the year, and bears who sold short are finding it difficult to meet commitments. Movements in the stocks began November 1, when it rose sharply 3 1-2 points to 117.

Unlimited Resources.

With unlimited resources and under a pledge of secrecy the Chicagoans more than a month ago began quietly accumulating Baldwin in blocks of 100 to 1,000 through several brokers and under various names.

Bears sold short as the climb continued. One operator is said to have been short of 5,000 shares at 125, and to be seeking the "captain" of the pool in order to offer a settlement. Others are said to have suffered tremendous losses.

Only 200,000 shares of Baldwin, representing $20,000,000, exist, and a large part of these are held by officers, directors and others who keep it off the market.

Bid Up The Stock.

All the pool had to do was to bid up the stock, reduce the small floating supply, and watch the bears bid up the stock on themselves, trying to buy back their short shares. Wall street opinion is that the pool will not violate stock exchange rules by trying to turn the coup into a corner, and that there will be no attempt to control the company or have anything else to do with it except garner the profits of the rise.

ICE IMPRISONS LAKE VESSELS

Several Ships Aground and Nearly 100 Locked, Awaiting Melting.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Several lake vessels are aground and in a precarious position today in the "Soo" district, the gateway between Lakes Huron and Superior. Nearly 100 others are ice-locked around Neebish island, awaiting a rise in temperature and a melting of the formations imprisoning them. Shipping over the entire district has come to a standstill.

Tugs and lighters are working frantically to free the grounded steamers before another storm should come up. A thirty-five-mile wind has made salvage work perilous. It was hoped to free the grounded vessels before the winds should turn into a lake storm and snap them amidships.

The position of the steamer Maytham, aground off Point Isabelle, was causing concern. If tugs are unable to free her before nightfall, it is feared she will be dashed to pieces.

The steamer Bangor, perched high and dry on the rocks off Kewenawa, is in a similarly perilous position.

PLAN A LINCOLN MEDICAL CENTER

To Add Sixteenth Story to Fraternity Building For That Purpose.

Physicians and Dentists to Occupy Three Floors Of New Structure.

Members of the Lincoln Dental and Medical associations meeting at the Orthopedic hospital Friday night heard from W. E. Sharp complete plans for making the new Fraternity building at Thirteenth and N streets a center for medical and dental offices in Lincoln. Both associations have already given their unanimous approval to the project and have already contracted for all the office space on the seventh, eighth and ninth floors of the structure.

A sixteenth story will be constructed, under the new plan, and used exclusively as a club house, library and auditorium for the professional men. They will occupy it rent free, paying only for the light and heat.

Mr. Sharp was approached some time ago by representatives of the organization who had some such scheme in mind. With them he worked it out and was given the unanimous backing of the two bodies. The special meeting Friday night was called to let all members know full details of the plan.

The seventh, eighth and ninth floors were chosen, Mr. Sharp explained, because those stories have double floors that permit ready installation of compressed air and gas extensions. If offices on more than three floors are required, the professional men who do not employ such connections will occupy the sixth or tenth floor.

The sixteenth floor is to be set back 20 feet on the Thirteenth and N street sides, in accordance with city ordinance. Above this will be the elevator pent house. To an observer on the east or south, the building will thus appear to be seventeen stories high.

Contract date for completion is April 1 and Mr. Sharp has no doubt that the contract will be fulfilled.

Dr. E. F. Teal, who presided, stated that most cities of the United States have medical arts buildings. In Denver, although the structure was built without any provisions for club space, the landlord later put up a 2-story place nearby for that purpose.

The indictment for the murder of Rev. Mr. Hall was still hanging over them when the defendants were brought into court today.

Attorney General Edward L. Katzenbach made the motion on behalf of the state to nolle prosse the indictments. He was representing the state in the absence of Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, who had failed to put in an appearance, although he was notified that the hearing would be held this morning.

"At the April term of the grand jury, indictments for murder were returned against Mrs. Frances S. Hall, Henry Stevens, William Stevens and Henry Carpender," said Mr. Katzenbach to the court. "Three of these defendants have been tried on the charge of murder and have been found not guilty.

"The state of New Jersey now moves for the nolle prossing of the indictments against all four defendants."

Motion Granted.

"The motion will be granted and the indictments nolle prossed," ruled Judge Charles W. Parker, who was sitting on the bench with Judge Frank L. Creary.

Mrs. Hall, her two brothers and Carpender had been brought into the court a few moments before the judge's decision was announced.

Mrs. Hall smiled quietly as the ruling was made freeing her forever from the murder charges.

Willie Stevens beamed. He arose, shook hands with his attorneys and told reporters he was "glad it all over."

To the end Henry Stevens was grim and reversed, his expression unchanged.

The well groomed Carpender, a Wall street broker, accepted the decision in a matter-of-fact manner.

"Verdict "Not Guilty."

O'SULLIVAN IS HELD FOR TRIAL

Bound Over On Charge Of Making Assault Upon Dumont.

Michael O'Sullivan of Columbus, Saturday was bound over to district court on a charge of felonious assault upon John R. Dumont, state insurance commissioner. Municipal Judge Chappell announced his decision at 11:30 after taking the case under advisement since Friday noon, when the preliminary hearing was concluded.

"I am not convinced," he said "that there was an assault with intent to do great bodily injury, as charged. But there was undoubtedly an assault and battery, and I think I have not the right to rule on the degree. I must bind over the defendant and let a jury in District court find as to what degree of assault there was."

Bond was fixed at $500, the same amount as that which O'Sullivan furnished before his hearing.

Jensen Declares Politics Enters Radio Legislation

Prof. J. C. Jensen of Wesleyan university spoke on "Radio and Politics" at the meeting of the Professional Men's club Saturday noon at the Lincoln hotel. The first and last radio legislation of congress was enacted in 1912, Prof. Jensen said. This dealt only with a very primitive type of spark set which was being experimented with at that time.

This legislation was very lenient, he said. The main purpose was to assure all ships at sea that they could call to land for aid. Only the code was used as radios as they are known today were not even discovered. He told of the part politics is playing in the present radio legislation squabble and stated that the great need of radio today, for adequate progress, was sufficient legislation.

Guaranty Fund Has Lost About $65,000 On Florence Bank

After operating the Commercial State bank at Florence for a year or more, the guaranty fund commission has sold its remaining good assets, including furniture and fixtures, to the Bank of Florence for $6,800. R. O. Brownell of Schuyler, member of the commission, has been appointed receiver to wind up the former bank's affairs.

There will be a loss of approximately $65,000 to the guaranty fund, Secretary Van Peterson of the commission said Saturday morning. At the time the bank was taken over it had deposit liabilities of $105,000, but that amount was reduced to $83,000 before closing it.

Baseball Pools Draw Fire From Government Men

BOSTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—After an investigation of baseball and clearing house pools, thirty-six defendants, residents in Massachusetts and New York, were under secret indictment today on charges of conspiracy to ship lottery tickets between states.

The federal grand jury had been investigating the so-called Albany and Hudson pools for two days.

Federal authorities claim to have found evidence that the pools contributed $15,000 to the republican campaign fund in the recent New York state election.

Investigators also said that another pool with headquarters in Albany, N. Y., was believed to have contributed to the democratic election fund during the New York state campaign.

The names of the defendants named in the indictment were not made public.

Women Are Told Men Will "Rebel" If Not Careful

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Women's position—in some cases superior to man's—is about as advantageous and as high as it can safely be, Mrs. Frank Evans, attorney of Salt Lake City, Utah, told women delegates to the American Farm Bureau federation convention here yesterday.

"If we are not careful," she said, "men will rise to fight for the rights they have lost through our elevation. We should be careful not to go too far."

Concerted action on a dozen measures for farm relief, ranging from disposal of surplus crops to consideration of comparative costs of railroad and truck freight hauling, will be taken by directors of the federation during the convention.

Included in the measures to be considered is the strong stabilization bill which would authorize the federal reserve board to use all its powers to prevent fluctuations in the potential power of the dollar.

The agricultural attache bill, which has passed the house and has been reported to the senate, will also be considered. This bill seeks to define the policy of the department of agriculture on its work of gathering information abroad with a view to increasing the demand for American agricultural products.

TRIP TO COAST FOILED WEDDING

Anne Caldwell Says Rich Fiance Called Off Marriage After Journey.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—John Hubbard, wealthy Pittsburgh manufacturer, treated Miss Anne Caldwell, music comedy actress, with great respect and was "wonderful" to her in the presence of his friends, Mrs. Madelyne P. Conley of Pittsburgh, testified Friday in the actress' $500,000 breach of promise suit against Hubbard.

Late in the day the trial was adjourned until Monday by agreement of counsel. In the intervening time, the plaintiff is to produce Norman Bel Geddes, known as a New York actor, and whose name was mentioned frequently in yesterday testimony.

The defense centered the cross examination on a trip made to California in 1924 to go into the movies because "Bel Geddes said he thought I had quite a comedy angle." Geddes travelled on the same train with her from Chicago to California, she testified. It was after this trip, she charged, that Hubbard said he would not marry her.

Mrs. Conley testified Hubbard told her of Miss Caldwell, saying she was "wonderful" and of the parties she had attended with the couple. Of Miss Caldwell's conduct at such affairs, Mrs. Conley said, "it was as good as it could be and better than that of lot of people. It could not have been more proper."

Later in Miss Caldwell's cross examination, counsel asked if she became greatly infatuated with Norman Bell Geddes and if Hubbard had called her attention to this "affection." She replied "that's not true."

Admits Defeat Of Prosecution In Mills Case

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Senator Alexander Simpson acknowledged the state's defeat in the Hall-Mills case here last night, although he was still strong in his belief that full credit was not given the evidence which the state introduced.

He would not comment on any further procedure relative to the indictments still pending against the defendants for the murder of Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, slain with Mrs. Eleanor Mills, although he was told that Attorney General Edward L. Katzenbach had ruled earlier in the afternoon that the other indictments would be dropped if an acquittal was returned under the indictment for the killing of Mrs. Mills.

Mrs. Jane Gibson, the star witness for the state, seriously ill at a local hospital, will not be told immediately of the result of the trial, doctors said, for fear that the excitement might aggravate her condition, which still is grave.

Jersey Governor Not to Prosecute Hall Case Further

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 4.—(I.N.S.)—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, will not be prosecuted further on the charges that they murdered the Rev. Edward W. Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, according to Gov. A. Harry Moore.

"I think the state has gone far enough," Governor Moore said.

Before leaving to attend the bail hearing, Attorney General Edward L. Katzenbach telegraphed instructions that the prosecution make no opposition to motion for bail. He intimated the state would nolle prosse the remaining indictment.

"SLIGHT ERROR" IN MESSAGE.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Miss Bernice Dennis stepped off a train here Thursday night to find an ambulance, weeping relatives and friends and all arrangements made for her burial. An error in a telegram caused the trouble. Mrs. L. A. Ward, her sister, showed her a message that read: "Bernice died at 4 p. m. Arrive there Thursday." The telegram should have read: "Left at 4 p. m."

'UNAVOIDABLE' IS JURY VERDICT IN PILLARD'S DEATH

Nicholas Meistrell Absolved Of Blame In Fatal Auto Accident.

A verdict of "unavoidable accident" was returned by the coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Irvin Pillard, 20, who was killed in an automobile accident at Twentieth and A streets late Thursday night. As a result, Nicholas Meistrell, who was driving the car, which struck a telephone pole in the parking, was freed from all blame in the case. The inquest was held Friday evening at 7:30 at Henry Brown's funeral parlor.

"The arrangement of the streets and other conditions," the jury said, caused the decision of unavoidable accident.

In the back seat with Pillard at the time of the accident was Clara Wagner, a girl friend. In the front seat with Meistrell was Grace Adams. All occupants in the car were injured. Meistrell received a badly cut nose. Miss Wagner suffered from head injuries and broken teeth. Miss Adams was painfully bruised.

Dr. C. C. Hickman, who attended Pillard, was the first to testify. He declared that he made a hurried trip to the Lincoln General hospital, where the unconscious youth had been taken. First aid was administered to Pillard at once, but loss of blood caused a weakening of the system, the doctor said. A concussion at the base of the brain was the direct cause of his death.

Meistrell was also injured, but was taken to Dr. W. H. Slattery, who treated him. Dr. Slattery testified that Meistrell received planful skin abrasions to his nose, a piece of glass running high up into his head. When questioned by Deputy County Attorney Farley Young, who was conducting the inquest, regarding traces of liquor, Doctor Slattery declared that he was quite close to the boy and that there was "no evidence whatsoever that he had had anything to drink."

Says Doesn't Remember.

"I was so excited that I didn't know anything," declared Meistrell when on the witness stand. The story of the fatal ride as told by the driver of the death car indicated that the foursome had started from the home of Grace Adams, 4920 J street, about 11 o'clock to go downtown and get smething to eat. The fog, he said, which was rather heavy, partially blinded him. The car had magneto lights, which are dim when the car is running slowly.

Meistrell did not see the parking in the middle of the street until he was about ten feet from the telephone pole, he said.

When he did see the pole, he applied his brakes, he declared. Officers said that traces of tire burns were found after the accident.

As soon as he came to, Meistrell said, climbed out of the car and assisted Miss Adams. Herman Newman arrived at the scene and helped the others. After some little time, Newman took Meistrell to his brother's home, 2236 W street. He later reported to the police station at the request of officials and was released to his brother M. J. Meistrell, Friday morning.

Says Going 20 Miles.

The car was going about 20 miles per hour, Meistrell said, at the time of the accident. Side curtains on the car also hindered vision.

Clara Wagner and Grace Adams told of events before the crash.

The jury at the inquest was composed of A. C. Miller, Fred Brandt, Charles D. Allen, Neil W. Morris, Albert Scott and C. D. Linderman.

OCHSNER GETS ANOTHER EXAM

Partial Victory For Sutton Man In Suit Against State Dental Board.

Although refusing to issue a writ of mandamus compelling the state board of dental examiners to issue a license to Rheinhardt O. Ochsner to practice dentistry in Nebraska, District Judge Wheeler, who heard Ochsner's application, stated Friday afternoon that he would issue a writ to compel the board to give Ochsner another examination in practical work before the next regular meeting of the board, which is in June.

The court held that Ochsner had not proved a clear enough case to sanction a writ of mandamus, but that he should have another examination.

Ochsner claimed in his petition that prejudice on the part of Dr. Ferdinand Griess, of Sutton, one of his examiners, was responsible for his failure.

Griess had been unsuccessful in an attempt to dispose of his dental practice to Ochsner and his brother, the applicant stated. Griess denied this and asserted that he had had no prejudice.

Judge Wheeler, in giving his decision, suggested that "a more delicate sense of propriety on the part of Doctor Griess should have suggested his withdrawal as a member of the board examining Ochsner."

Ochsner received his degree from the University of Nebraska college of dentistry last June, and although passing with good marks in his other tests, received a failing grade in "practical work" before the state board.

A number of dentists were called to testify as to the quality of the work, Judge Wheeler holding that their opinions were counterbalanced.

Today

Santa in Wall Street.
Wet and Dry News.
Selective Maternity.

By Arthur Brisbane.

Santa Claus will be busy all over this prosperous nation very soon. And the poor little rich men with their headquarters in Wall street will not be forgotten. From thirty-five to fifty million dollars will be distributed in bonuses to workers. And stockholders will not be forgotten. Year-end dividends of several hundred millions will set a new record.

Farmers, with their troubles, reading about this, will wish their business in life was to watch the stock tickers instead of weaning calves.

The province of Ontario, dry for 10 years, has gone wet. At that news American "wets" cheer up — but without reason.

The Canadians can change their laws, prohibition is not frozen into any constitution. But here it would take 38 states to take out of the constitution the prohibition that was so blithely put in. And nobody now living will see 38 states vote to remove the prohibition amendment.

Billy Sunday says he will run for president as a dry if Governor Smith, a wet is nominated by the democrats, and the republicans nominate anybody but an out-and-out prohibitionist.

One thing is certain: With Mr. Sunday in the white house the United States would have four years without a dull moment.

Someone suggests selective maternity, no woman allowed to have children unless willing to give up her entire time to them and "forego society."

That is not a good idea, if what you want is good children with power. The famous Olympias didn't exactly "give up society" or devote her life to her maternal duties. And she had only one child. But that one was Alexander the Great.

Nature and the mothers have done fairly well on this earth in the past, changing us from cannibals and cave dwellers to half-civilized beings.

Wealth, "easy money," make this country, its able men and its government give up too easily.

We prepared three airships to fly to Hawaii, two fell down, the third wouldn't go up. We prepared two more airships for a non-stop flight to Panama. These non-stop airships promptly stopped.

We may not be "quitters," but we are something like the man that said: "I'm a game guy, but I know when I'm licked." We seem to be "licked" a good deal of the time.

Iowa farmers demand a cut in freight rates, and probably will not get it.

Wisely they support the St. Lawrence ship canal, which would save them from 10 to 16 cents a bushel on export and add that to the price of wheat. This Secretary Hoover has explained clearly in his effort to get the canal through.

His plan is an American canal running through New York state. It would cost more than the other canal but would be all American, not half Canadian.

Uncle Sam is rich enough to be in the canal business for himself.

The debate team of Lincoln high school won a two to one decision over East high of Sioux City, Ia., in its initial debate of the season Friday evening at the high school. The question was, Resolved: that the federal government should own and control the coal mines of the United States.

Herbert Bennell, Fred McFarland and Arthur Bukin of Lincoln upheld the negative opposed by Hobart Mossman, Lynn Poole and Lester Lien, the affirmative squad from Sioux City. The judges were Ralph Tietsort, C. L. Culler and Rev. Carl Wilhelm.

Lincoln is now in the Tri-State league made up of teams from Yankton, S. D., Sioux City, Ia., and Lincoln. S. S. Dunn is the debate coach at the local high school.

Are Coming!

ASKS OPENING OF UPPER MISSOURI

Senator Capper Of Kansas, Addresses Army Engineers On Project.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Advocating improvement of the upper Missouri river, Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, Friday told a board of army engineers that the economic development of the middlewest demanded immediate use of the entire waterway for transportation.

Navigability of the river, he said, would be a great boon to agriculture by lifting one of its greatest burdens, the high cost of transportation. The railroads, he added, have successfully opposed reduction of their rates until the agricultural areas of the west are being depopulated.

"Actual rates in effect today show that 12,000 bushels of wheat can be carried 1,000 miles by lake and ocean steamers for $20 to $30 and on modern river barges for $60 to $70, while the cost by railroad is $150 to $200," the board was told.

"Over the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway in the years 1921-23 there were shipped an average of 258,000,000 bushels of wheat a year at an enormous saving compared with rail transportation. Yet the saving would have been vastly greater and of far more benefit to the west had it been possible to load wheat on barges all along the upper Mississippi and Missouri rivers and float it to gulf ports or to the Great lakes without the costly rail haul and transfer expense involved in the movement.

"The average cost to the farmer for shipping his wheat to Liverpool by way of the Great Lakes and New York is 40.1 cents per bushel. By way of the gulf ports the cost is 37.5 cents and of this the rail charge in this country takes 26.4 cents."

FREE IOWA YOUTH IN MURDER CASE

Hal Howard, 15, Cleared Of Charge In Connection With Girl's Death.

BEDFORD, Ia., Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Hal Howard, 15 years old, of Creston, was cleared in District court here Friday of a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of Pansy Turnbull, 17-year-old Diagonal, Ia., school girl. The case ended abruptly when Judge A. R. Maxwell sustained a defense motion of a directed verdict in favor of the youth.

A similar charge against Terrance Luton, 17, of St. Joseph, Mo., probably will be dismissed, the prosecution announced. County Attorney James Lucas also was considering the advisability of dropping assault charges against the boys.

Judge Maxwell, in ordering an acquittal verdict, ruled that the state had failed to show that the Turnbull girl had been mistreated as charged and that the testimony in part substantiated the defense contention that the girl met accidental death when she fell or jumped from an automobile driven by Howard.

Drifts In Canada Blocking Return Many Tourists

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Tourists from several points in the United States and neighboring provinces are marooned in Winnipeg with no immediate prospect of reaching their homes by the same route or conveyance as they reached Manitoba.

A record-breaking snow fall and intermittent blizzards during the past week have blocked all principal highways leading into the province, and, according to an announcement by government officials Friday, no attempt will be made to keep the roads clear of snow this winter.

A number of motorists who braved the elements and the snow-drifts are reported to have abandoned their cars on the Selkirk highway which is the chief artery of communication between Manitoba and the United States.

Extremely cold weather has prevailed throughout the prairie provinces for this time of year.

WATSON WILL IS FOUND INVALID

Children Of Deaf Mute Testator Obtain Fee Title To Property.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., Dec. 4.—A jury in district court here, after deliberating for eight and a half hours, last night returned a verdict finding that the instrument which had been offered for probate as the last will and testament of Henry Watson, aged Diller eccentric, was not in fact his will.

The estate, valued at $25,000, will therefore descend to his two children, Mrs. Mary Snyder and Abraham Watson of Diller, who contested the will, alleging that testator was incompetent at the time it was executed and that it had not been executed according to law.

Henry Watson, who was able to neither read nor write, was a deaf mute. By the terms of the purported will his two children, who were the contestants, were left a life estate in the property. As they have no children of their own, the estate upon their deaths would have descended to nephews and nieces in England. By having the will declared invalid they obtain a fee title to the property, which they may dispose of as they see fit.

PLAN CIVIL WAR VET MEMORIAL

To Ask Legislature to Raise Fund By Small Tax Levy.

A special tax levy of one-thirtieth of 1 mill for a period of three years to erect a monument to soldiers of the civil war on or near Capitol square is proposed in a bill drawn up by a committee of the Nebraska G. A.R. and affiliated societies, which was laid before Governor McMullen in a conference held Friday afternoon.

The bill calls for appointment of a special commission to select the type of memorial, arrange for the sculptural work, and make contracts for erecting the monument. The site will be subject to approval of the capitol commission.

It is intended that the monument shall be in memory of civil war veterans, for their services both in preserving the union and in founding and developing the state of Nebraska.

At Governor McMullen's suggestion, another meeting will be held soon with the capitol commission. Members of the latter body are said to be in favor of the state's acquiring two blocks north of Capitol square and locating all state memorials on that ground after it has been cleared of buildings.

Members of the G. A. R. committee who conferred with the governor were Department Commander J. O. Moore, State Adjutant Harmon Bros,s former Department Commande E. F. Brown andL D. Evans. J. E. Wilson of Wahoo, division commander of the Sons of Union Veterans, and Mrs. Harm of the Lincoln W. R. C. were also present. manR

SIDNEY, Neb., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Fifteen farmers unions in Cheyenne county, with a paid up membership approximating 500, will hold a joint meeting here next Wednesday to consider co-operative financing of farmers union gas and oil filling stations and cream stations in the county. Farmers unions in adjoining counties are also urged to establish similar co-operative enterprises.

The annual report of the Cheyenne county farmers union shows that $1,500,000 has been paid back to the membership in dividends from marketing activities of the union.

Change Rates On Cream Shipments

An order permitting the Missouri Pacific railroad to take over the milk and cream transportation on its Nebraska lines, heretofore handled by the American Railway Express company, and charge the same rates as those specified in the tariff sheets of the latter corporation, was issued Saturday by the state railway commission.

The Missouri Pacific's own schedule of rates on milk and cream, on which no business has heretofore been handled, was lower than that of the express company. It was cancelled with the commission's consent. The scale to be charged is on the same level as that prevailing on other roalroad lines in Nebraska.

Authority has been given the Burlington to apply switching rates at Lincoln and Omaha on materials and merchandise which it delivers to other carriers for their own use The Burlington, in turn, will pay switching charges to other carriers where they deliver shipments to it.

Commodity rates on carload shipments of empty barrels between Fremont and Lincoln, on one hand, and between Omaha and Lincoln, on the other, are cancelled on a showing that no cargoes of that kind have been moving. The chambers of commerce in the three cities agreed to this action.

Quarrel Between Amundsen and General Nobile Reopens; Italian Threatens Further Disclosures

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—Umberto Nobile threatens to "tell what he had not told before" about the flight of the dirigible Norge over the North Pole in consequence of a reopening of a quarrel with Roald Amundson and Lincoln Ellsworth over the leadership of the flight.

Amundsen has cabled from New York to the Aero club of Norway requesting that his and Ellsworth's names be withdrawn as honorary members. The message "indignantly protests" that Nobile is in this country "making gross misstatements there by ridiculing the name of Norway" in a lecture with the consent of the club.

In a speech November 15 Nobile was quoted as saying that the idea of a flight over the North Pole in an Italian dirigible originated with the Italians; and that Premier Mussolini ordered last summer's successful flight over the pole.

"It is possible," he said when informed of the resignations, "that I shall tell what I have not previously told. Roald Amundsen had no part in the preparations for the flight. And he did nothing on the flight itself. After he and I signed our contract he came over to America and delivered lectures. He was gone six months, during which time I was in Rome, getting ready for the flight."

The quarrel of the explorers broke out shortly after the Norge landed in Alaska after Nobile made statements which Amundsen claimed took the credit of leadership from the real commanders.

UPSETTING THE BUCKET.

Picture the tender feelings of those senate leaders, who since the November election have been eating crow in order to permit Calvin Coolidge and the republican party to remain in control of the senate!

They had gotten down on their knees to Senator Lynn Frazier of North Dakota to win him back to the party after they had unceremoniously dumped him out in the cold. They had sacrificed their own honest opinions that the grand old party and its representative in the White House might not face the menace of an attack in congress with a national election appearing on the horizon. It was not an easy thing to do. These senate leaders dislike Frazier and his ilk. They undoubtedly got more satisfaction in giving him a kick than anything which has developed in recent years But these men are loyal to their party and to its leader above all considerations and they hurled their own convictions for the sake of practical politics.

But no sooner had they effected a truce with Frazier than President Coolidge kicks over the traces.

While the plans were still incubating to restore Senator Frazier to good standing in the republican party, and to give him a place on committees, Mr Coolidge named Colonel C. F. Mudgett, a political foe of both Frazier and Senator Gerald P. Nye in North Dakota, to be United States marshall for that state.

The truce is off if Mr. Coolidge stands pat upon his appointment

Both Frazier and Nye have blood in their eyes and promise to carry the fight against confirmation of Mudgett to the floor of the senate. With the customary extension of senatorial privilege to the case, it is more than likely that they could defeat the confirmation of Mudgett. But since 1924 Frazier has been accorded none of the privileges of other republican members in the senate. He is an outcast Lucklessly the president has raised an issue which will continue to embarrass him throughout the session, for the senate, if it adopts the course necessary to bring Frazier back into the fold, will have to go against Mr. Coolidge in the matter of confirming Mudgett.

The incident is unimportant except for the bearing which it may have upon control in the senate in the session which begins next Tuesday.

Suppose Mr. Coolidge's determination to appoint one who shares his political philosophy to the office of United States marshal in North Dakota should undo all which has been done to make it possible. for the republicans to retain control of the senate. What if the democrats should come into power in the upper branch of congress, proceed to organize it along their own lines, and grab all of the choice places upon the committees where the real work is done? It is possible that Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Mellon's tax program would undergo sharp revision It might be that the protective tariff law, which is the keystone to the republican administration, might be amended to remove some of the heavy duties on certain articles partaking of a monopoly. The senate could make a lot of trouble for Mr. Coolidge if it is of a mind.

And yet Mr. Coolidge is right in his position on the selection of a marshal in North Dakota. He has a right to have a man there who believes in the administration and will carry out its policies insofar as they relate to the office which he occupies.

The plain fact is there are two irreconcilable groups in the republican party.

They have been fused before elections for the practical purpose of achieving victory at the polls but they are as far apart on every issue of political consequence as the two major parties. It is unethical and immoral to continue this relationship. We need men in public life who will not surrender their principles in order to retain office, or political control Mr. Coolidge will raise himself in the estimation of the country if he refuses to put his approval upon dickerings with Frazier and his associates. They have nothing in common and should not consort together merely for the purpose of retaining power.

SPREADING THE BANK GUARANTY IDEA.

Congressman Edgar Howard's announcement that he will introduce a bill extending the Nebraska guaranty system to national banks is probably intended more as an advertisement for the plan now in successful operation here, rather than a serious attempt to apply it on a national scale. Mr. Howard is enough of a practical politician to realize that he stands no chance whatever to get such a bill through either branch of congress under its present control; but he probably figures that a little propaganda to let the world know that Nebraska is one state where depositors in failed banks get their money would do no harm.

From their own experience the people of this state know how substantial are the benefits of guaranteed bank deposits. Nebraska bankers also realize what a mainstay the law has been to their business in a very trying and critical period, and few of them would be willing to dispense with it, in spite of the heavy expense it has caused them. But neither bankers nor depositors here are particularly interested in proselyting the rest of the country and persuading other states or the federal government to adopt the system.

Nebraska was extremely fortunate in getting the guaranty fund established and on a solid footing some years before the time of stress arrived. The law had been carefully formulated with wise forethought to cover emergencies, so that the machinery was at hand to meet the strain placed upon the fund by a series of bank failures beginning six years ago. A balance of more than 2 1-2 million dollars had been built up by means of the regular semi-annual assessments levied in previous years; and statutory provisions were in force authorizing special assessments when needed.

Even then, disaster might have overtaken the guaranty fund if additional legislation had not been enacted to strengthen control over weakened banks and place the administration of failed ones in the hands of a special commission of bankers. Under prior administration, the cost of receiverships had practically eaten up the whole proceeds of assets belonging to suspended banks in many instances. It became necessary to correct that condition and conserve remaining assets to reimburse the fund, so far as they would go, for money drawn from it to pay depositors.

It has been a long pull, and a hard one, for the solvent banks to meet the extraordinary demands upon them, but this has been done and is still being done. The end of the road has not yet been reached, though it appears to be in sight at last.

Meanwhile, Nebraska courts no widespread notoriety in regard to its bank guaranty system. It is meeting its own problem in the best way possible and hopes to get into the clear in the not far distant future. Other states and the federal government must act on their own initiative, if at all. Nebraska cannot waste her time and energy doing missionary work elsewhere. Her efforts are all needed at home to see the thing through.

The people of other states must work out their own salvation for themselves. They are welcome to follow Nebraska's example if they see fit. Eventually some form of bank guaranty may prevail throughout the United States. Nebraska can render her best service toward that end by devoting herself wholeheartedly to making the system a complete success within her own borders. When she has finally and conclusively demonstrated its efficiency, the rest of the country will come into line.

ONE'S COMPETITOR.

That is a pleasing and graceful tribute which Harvey Newbranch, of The Omaha World Herald, pays to Joseph Polcar, the retiring editor of The Omaha Daily News. Mr. Polcar retires from The News after twenty-five years of faithful service. Through the run of the years, Mr. Polcar brought the paper whose destinies he directed to a position of importance in Omaha. That meant work—hard, grinding, nerve-wrecking labor, and Mr. Newbranch gives his competitor credit for his achievement in spite of the fierce contest which is always present in the newspaper field

Mr. Newbranch wrote as follows.

There has been no harder working newspaper man in Omaha, in the past twenty years, than Joseph Polcar, whose resignation as editor and publisher of The Daily News was announced yesterday. He has served faithfully and with all his energy the interests of his paper, and has been courageous and independent in community service and in the support of the policies and ideals in which he believes. A hard and sometimes a ruthless fighter, he made his influence felt, and friends and enemies alike have respected him for his bravery and devotion.

His successors, Edward Gans as publisher and general manager, and Neal Jones as editor, though experienced and competent newspaper men, will find it no easy task to fill the shoes of Joseph Polcar. The World-Herald wishes them a full measure of success in the undertaking, and congratulates them upon the opportunity which is theirs to render service to the field of constructive, clean and enlightened journalism.

To recognize the services of an honorable, hard-fighting competitor is an element of business and industrial life which is seen too infrequently.

The Japanese government has started a municipal undertaking establishment to cut the cost of funerals in Tokyo. But who would want to die in Tokyo?

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M. D.

Bad Legs.

"Dear Doctor: I am in the habit of sending the newspaper to my home in Scotland. My mother evidently has been reading your health articles, and she has asked me to write you about the condition of her legs, which have been causing her most awful pain for years. The legs broke out about 15 years ago in the regions of the ankles. She has used various salves, but no relief. The only relief she gets from the burning pain is when they are poulticed with bread and water. A cousin of my father's had had sores on his legs just like mother's, and he used boric powder and they were cured. Mother tried the boric idea, but it nearly drove her mad with pain. She is practically an invalid from the condition, although she is otherwise healthy. Her age is (I think) 65. She is of strong build. Any helpful information you can give would be appreciated, in a way my pen would never convey.—J.

"P. S. Are they the usual bad legs that women are supposed to have?"

First, J., let me defend my sex. We're not supposed to have bad legs.

As your mother is well and strong—do you mean by strong that she is overweight?—and also on account of the position of the ulcerations, we can think that probably hers are the common ulcerations due to varicose veins. These ulcerations are predisposed by standing especially in one position for long hours at a time. Overweight and constipation and things that obstruct the circulation, may cause them.

Usually, if the patient can be confined to a bed, with the legs slightly elevated, these ulcers can be healed with simple ointments and a firm bandage from the toes to the knees. Treatment between the bandaging is with cloths wrung out of hot water and frequently renewed.

The bread and water poultices which your mother uses evidently give relief because of the blandness and moisture, but such poultices are not considered good because they favor infection.

Varicose ulcers of long standing are usually accompanied by eczema and they may have such hardened scar tissue at the edges that perhaps the whole ulcers have to be removed surgically and new skin graft put on them.

If your mother is overweight, have her reduce her weight (ask for our booklet on the subject and enclose ten cents in stamps with a self-addressed, stamped, envelope) and see if arrangements cannot be made so she can stay off her feet for a good, long period of time. If the antiseptic treatment such as balsam of Peru (applied once a day after the hot water cleaning) and boracic acid or other antiseptic ointments (kept applied) are irritating, she may be relieved by plain petrolatum or petroleum oil kept on constantly.

(We have an article on Varicose Veins which can be obtained by enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope with request.)

False Modesty.

Miss 18—Are there no women doctors in your community? You should go to one for you need a physical examination to determine the cause of your trouble. If you cannot, do not hesitate to go to your family physician, who is a man, you say. Do not let false modesty keep you ill! Just remember that to a conscientious doctor, men and women are patients, and that sex makes no difference. He may recommend you to a woman physician, if you desire one.

It is absolutely impossible for me to advise you without a personal examination, and I am not in private practice. You probably have some trouble which may be very easily remedied now. Now take my advice, dear girl.

My dear Followers:

When sending for material, which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible. NOT OVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information requested.

Profit Of Ten Millions Made In Stock Deal

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The New York Times says a stock market coup has been completed by Arthur W. Cutten of Chicago, and a group of associates trading in the shares of Baldwin Locomotive. They are credited with amassing paper profits of upwards of $10,000,000 within a single month and have completely taken the play away from New York traders.

Baldwin sold at a new high for the year Friday—162½.

The end of the movement is not yet in sight, the paper says.

Two market developments led Mr. Cutten to organize what has been termed a one man pool in Baldwin. One of these was the fact that the wheat market was in the doldrums. The other was that the stock market itself had slipped into a trading area in which movements were colorless, but which might be revived by a bold speculative stroke.

Charles Ringling Of Circus Fame Dies Suddenly

SARASOTA, Fla., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Charles Ringling, circus man; financier and railroad builder, died at his home here at seven o'clock, last night after a illness of several weeks. His death was unexpected as it had been believed by attending physicians that he was recovering from an attack of heart trouble.

Mr. Ringling was one of the famous Ringling brothers who years ago organized a wagon show and from this developed the largest organization in the world, making their names household words.

Some people can get comfort out of anything. Hit 'em on the bean and they're glad you didn't hurt their hands, which might have mattered. And I used to know a lot of folks in the prairie country that ran into enough discouragements every week to make most ordinary folks quit cold, but they went right ahead and built up a great country.

Well, there was a fellow out there that I just heard about, and he was called Cheerful Jack. He was a brakeman on the railroad, and the railroad wasn't making very much money. But Cheerful never had anything to complain about. He ran into hard luck every day, and when a kid was born and it was a boy the doctors found out the poor thing was tongue-tied.

"Well, what'll that mean, Doc? says Jack.

"Oh, nuthin', only this particular kid is so tongue-tied that he never will be able to say anything so's you can understand him."

"Just natcherly 'll grunt an mumble an' bawl everything up, hey?"

"Yes, sorry to say, that's about it!"

"Good!" says Jack, and he started to laugh. "I ain't never had much of a chance in this here railroad game, but anyway my son'll grow up to be a famous train-caller in a big depot!"

DEFICIT BLAMED TO LEGISLATURE

Senator-elect Osterman Thinks Overspending Primary Cause.

Also Declares Code Machinery Operation Is Too Expensive.

"I am not agitating for repeal of the code at this time, because I know that would stand no chance of getting through the legislature; but what the taxpayers want, and what they have a right to demand is that the code machinery and cost of its operation be cut down to fit the state of Nebraska," declared State Senator-elect Theo M. Osterman of Central City, here Saturday to secure accommodations for the coming legislative session.

Mr. Osterman has served five terms in the lower house and was elected this year for the first time to the senate. His district comprising Plat, Merrick and Nance counties, gave him a 2,000 majority. He is a democrat but says he expects to lay aside partisanship and work for the best interests of all the people of Nebraska.

"Folks up my way are much concerned over the deficit in the state general fund," said Osterman. "I tell them if they want to know whre the blame rests primarily for overspending the state's revenues they should ask their legislators who have never learned to say 'No.'

"Of course, it is up to the state board of equalization to make a tax levy large enough to take care of the expenditures. When that is not done, of course treasury is bound to run behind. The responsibility thus rests on the legislature in the first instance, and after that on the state officers.

Revise Gas Tax Distribution.

It is no time to be talking about spending more money for highways and other things when farmers' homes are being sold under the hammer. I always opposed the gasoline tax, but since we now have it and are getting along fairly well in raising money to match federal aid by means of it I am in favor of letting well enough alone I hope however, that a more equitable division of the proceeds will be provided, as between main highways and county roads. This should be done before the era of paving starts in, which will take all the money."

Senator Osterman visited the capitol, where he called on Governor McMullen and other state officials. During his interview with the governor, he suggested that no more state and federal funds be spent in improving highways located on the Union Pacific right of way. In a number of counties that railroad has possession of strips of land in alternate sections extending out 100 feet on each side beyond the regular 200-foot strip, making a series of jogs. Where highways parallel the tracks, they run through these projecting strips, and in some cases federal and state funds are being spent to grade and gravel them.

When Osterman was in the legislature before he had a provision inserted in the appropriation bill forbidding expenditure of state money on lands not publicly owned. Two years ago, he was not a member and that clause was left out. He urged Governor McMullen to see that no money is spent hereafter on leased land which remains under private ownership, and that county boards be given authority by law to condemn such strips for highway purposes.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO.

A shadow of irritation swept Connie at the gutlelessness of her husband.

"That woman," she said, speaking distinctly, "is a dangerous creature. She scarcely took her eyes off you from the minute she saw you."

Utter amazement lit Justin Kent's face. "My child, that's ridiculous. Didn't you notice that Mrs. Lescabanne seemed to be in half-mourning. She is probably lonely and friendless after the death of her husband. I thought there was something rather likable about her."

Connie's eyes got a little green glint in them.

"You are just the kind of a man who would fall for her line. Oh, I'm not jealous, but I just don't want to see anyone make a fool out of you, Justin. You're so doggoned innocent.

His eyes narrowed. "That sounds as though . . . you might care."

"I do care, indeed I do."

"It's no use, Connie—I cannot understand you . . ." He broke off helplessly.

Connie's mouth began to twitch; she had held herself in restraint so long that the surge of her emotions, against all outward barriers, became too great to be borne and to her utter confusion she was, beyond all control, in tears. This was ridiculous, humiliating. She turned and fled to her own room.

Unexpectedly she was confused by the immediate intrusion of Justin Kent. He came to her and sat on the side of the bed where she had thrown herself. His presence, instead of calming her, served to unnerve her further; her body was racked with uncontrollable sobs.

"I don't know what I have done to hurt your feelings," Justin Kent told her. "You make me feel like a criminal. All I want is to make you happy, but it seems that I invariably do the wrong thing. It can't go on like this, Connie. I can't understand it, and it is worrying me to death!"

"Go. Please go. I want to be alone. Can't you understand . . . I want to be alone!"

He got up from the side of the bed silently. For a moment she thought he had left the room and then, suddenly, she was aware that he was still with her.

"Connie . . ." His voice was changed, strained.

"Please, please! I'll be all right in a few minutes. Just leave me alone. . . ."

"No, I think we might as well face the facts at once." His words were slow, decisive. "Is this the reason, Connie?"

His new note was penetrating—markedly cool. Connie commanded her scattered attention and brought it to a quick focus.

"What—is what the reason?"

"This!"

She turned to the bed and saw that he was holding the picture of Eddie Costello which May had slipped into her pocket the other day. Negligently she had left it on her dressing table!

"I think this explains—everything," Justin Kent told her, with slow, philosophical unhappiness. "I am sorry for you, Connie; far sorrier than I can tell. I did not know that you still loved him."

The flush of her face darkened, and she hid her features again in the pillow.

"Please go . . ." The words were muffled and small.

"I will go in just a minute, Connie dear. You see, I feel quite as badly as you do—I feel as though I had been trying to drag from you a something—a love that you couldn't give . . . but I didn't know. I hadn't realized, that you still love Eddie Costello. was a fool, dear, to think even for a minute that you might care for me. I was just . . . blind."

Her voice came in little gasps.

"I . . . don't love . . . him."

"That's the voice of your head, not your heart, speaking, Connie dear. If I thought I could help you by releasing you from our marriage I would do it at once, but I can see no advantage in that idea. The situation is pretty near hopeless, even if Eddie were out of the penitentiary and free. I don't think, no matter how much you love him, it would be wise for you ever to go back together. I know that love is not a thing to be argued about, but there are considerations—vital matters of character that you cannot overlook. I tell you frankly—and it hurts me to say it—Eddie Costello is not your kind, Connie. I am not speaking to you as a lover; not even as your husband. I am trying to talk to you as though you were my own sister."

Connie was biting her lip.

Justin Kent studied the smiling, handsome face of the photograph.

"Do you know," he said with a sudden harshness in his voice. "I have never had such a sensation before in my life—but I believe I could actually kill that man!"

Mrs. Chaplin's Dad Thinks She May Be Spoiled

WICHITA, Kas., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Robert E. McMurray, an official of a printing concern here, father of Lita Gray (Mrs. Charles Chaplin), in discussing the marital troubles in the movie comedian's family, today declared his daughter "has a lot of sense, but she's young and Charlie may have spoiled her with luxury."

McMurray said Mrs. Chaplin would be 20 years old next April.

McMurray and Lita's mother were divorced sixteen years ago. He said he saw his daughter last in 1922. He declared he was telegraphing her, offering assistance.

McMurray explained that Mrs. Chaplin's real name was "Lillita." She took the name "Gray" after her appearance in "The Kid," he said.

When Mrs. Chaplin was starring with the famous film comedian on a salary of $300 a week, McMurray said, her mother "promptly proceeded to splurge with new automobiles and other luxuries out of question for a child. I don't have any doubt at all that she is responsible for all the troubles between them."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—August Dorchy, the labor leader, whose conviction for violating the Kansas industrial relations act in the calling of a coal mine strike was recently affirmed by the Supreme court, asked the court Friday to grant him a rehearing. He contended his conviction should have been set aside because the compulsory arbitration features of Kansas act did not apply to coal mines.

Motion For New Trial Is Argued

A motion for a new trial on the grounds of newly discovered evidence was argued before District Judge Shepherd Saturday morning in the $25,000 alienation of affections suit which was brought against Roy H. Moore by Emil C. Dolansky. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The attorney for the plaintiff however, contends that the marriage of Moore and Nina E. Dolansky on Nov. 24, after the trial, constitutes new evidence, as indicating a condition present at the time of the trial, but which could not be proved.

Attorney Mattox, representing Dolansky, claimed that it would alter her testimony to the effect that there was nothing between Moore and herself, and that they were just friendly acquaintances.

Judge Shepherd made no ruling Saturday morning.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A warning to congress to judge sharply in weighing the question whether guardianship of natural resources of the United States should be turned over to the states was delivered Friday by Secretary Work. Writing to Chairman Sinnott of the house public lands committee, the interior secretary placed a value of $13,697,500,000 on the domain which proposed legislation would entrust entirely or in part to the sovereign states. The pending bills, he warned, jeopardized the whole future of national conservation.

CHICAGO.—(AP)—Chief of Police Morgan Collins' declarations that major crime in Chicago has fallen off one-third in the first eleven months of 1926, compared with a like period in 1925, have been challenged. The chief made his statement of waning crime before the budget committee of the city council, giving the 1926 figures for burglary, robbery and larceny as 2,089 against, 3,054 for last year. But Alderman Charles S. Eaton maintained that these figures did not gibe with those of the Chicago Crime commission. The chief replied that he was guided by his own records. The Chicago Tribune thereupon made an independent check of crime records, arriving at a figure of 3,408.

LOS ANGELES.—(AP)—Ownership of the "little blue trunk," stuffed with women's finery, which was seized in New York a month ago and said by District Attorney Keyes to belong to Aimee Semple McPherson and her fugitive radio operator, Kenneth G. Ormiston, has been traced to the latter, said the Times Friday. The trunk was identified as one sold to Ormiston under the name of of "H. C. Cornell" here last May, a short time before the evangelist disappeared. Investigators traced the trunk to Jacksonville, Fla., and then to New York. It contained sixty-seven articles of women's apparel, which Keyes contends belong to the evangelist.

ST. CLOUD, Minn.—(AP)—Anton Schmidt, 66, Lake Henry bank president and long time resident of Paynesville, dropped dead in court here where he was defendant in a civil action brought against the bank. CHICAGO.—(AP)—Anyone who will take the time to look up the facts "will be overwhelmed with the evidence indicating improvement" in the farm situation, J. B. Lamson, agricultural development agent of the Burlington railroad, told a joint meeting of the American Railway Development association and the public relations committee of the Western Railway Executives Friday. As to Iowa, he said, 40 per cent of Iowa farms are not mortgaged and that while in December, 1920, Iowa owed the Federal Reserve bank $98,636,000 in borrowed money, on April 1, 1926 the amount was only $10,700,000.

WILMINGTON, Dela.—(AP)—A decided improvement in the condition of William L. Edison, son of Thomas A. Edison, was announced last night by physicians at the Delaware hospital here. His recovery now is expected, it was added.

LONDON. —(AP)— Clearing the ground for fruitful co-operation in the future in an atmosphere of mutual helpfulness and cordiality, British and German industrial and financial leaders began a two-day conference here Friday. They assembled under the joint chairmanship of Sir Max Muspratt, vice president of the Federation of British Industry, and Dr. Carl Duisberg, prominent German industrialist. Much of the time was devoted to tariffs and hindrances to international trade. It was agreed that in the present circumstances a detailed discussion of tariffs was inadvisable and premature. As to the question of state subsidies, it was stated that in principle this was injurious to international trade.

BOSTON.—(AP)—The return of campaign expenditures of the democratic state committee, filed here Friday totalled $92,857, including liabilities outstanding. Among them was a total of $1,585 paid to Conrad W. Crooker, attorney for the Liberal Civic league, and the National Civic league, who Thursday night lodged with Chairman Reed of the senate campaign investigation committee charges that republican organizations spent $453,236. In this campaign Senator William M. Butler was defeated by David I. Walsh for United States senator.

UNI. PLACE HIGH GIVES OPERETTA

"Windmills Of Holland" Presented to a Packed House Friday.

The University Place high school glee clubs presented the operetta, "Windmills of Holland" before a packed house Friday evening at the University Place gymnasium. The play, composed by Otis M. Carrington, centers around the home of Mynheer Hertogenbosch rich farmer and mill owner in Holland. His two daughters have thrown over their native lovers and both seem to think that they are in love with Bob Yankee, an American salesman who has tried to sell Hertogenbosch some modern machinery to take the place of the old fashioned dutch wind mills.

But after the townspeople discover the mill owner's plan to buy this machinery they do all within their means to prevent his buying it and finally accomplish their purpose. Meanwhile th etwo daughters, Wilhelmin and Hilda and their native lovers are reconciled and they play ends with everyone again real happy.

Helen Ward in the role of Wilhelmina was easily the outstanding person of the performance. She possesses an unusually good voice for a high school girl. Harold Duey in the part of the Old Hertogenbosch also stood out. Warren Campbell as Franz and Elmer Prixley as Bob Yankee and Alice Sala playing the part of Hertogenbosch's frau all added to the success of the performance.

The production was under the direcion of Homer Hubbard. The chorus was accompanied by the high school orchestra.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—(AP)—Bradstreet's today said:

"A rather mixed collection of trade and industrial reports comes to hand this week; some of this is a chronicle of current events; some of the record of the past month's happenings. Among the week's features probably first place is taken by the advance of real winter weather over a wide area, with beneficial effects upon coal buying and purchasing of heavy wearing apparel in northern sections and a perceptible livening up of holiday purchasing by early buyers. Over against these stimulating features are to be reckoned a sag in the price of cotton to the lowest point of the year, which has tended to offset good effects of cooler weather in southern areas, and reports of less active buying at wholesale of steel, iron, coke, lumber, most non-ferrous metals, furniture and implements, much of this being credited to the advance of the year toward its close."

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By International News Service.
NEW YORK, Dec. 4.

Speculative interest was largely centered on Baldwin Locomotive and other high priced industrial stocks in view of the reports that Arthur Cutten and his Chicago associate had locked horns with the professions on Wall street and had carried off first honors in the speculative coupe which has been a thirty-day mystery in the financial district.

Baldwin Locomotive was freely offered in the final period and the stock dropped from the high of the day to 164. At its closing price of 154½ Baldwin registered a net loss of 7½ points.

Baldwin opened at 162, unchanged, after which the stock advanced in heavy trading to 164 and fell back to 159, at which price trading was quite animated. The Wall street shorts had agreed to cover their short contracts on the best possible term without raising the cry of founded report.

As a group, the motor stock displayed conspicuous strength and activity from the start. General Motors sold above 146 in active trading, while Hudson reached a new high for the movement at 49¾, and Chrysler, Studebaker and Hupp sold fractionally higher.

The approach to the year-end has stimulated calculations of the full year's profits and earnings of the industrial and railroad companies.

On the whole these will be fvorable as compared with former years though the last quarter has witnessed a considerable falling off in activities and income. French francs made a new high record at 3.96½ cents to the franc.

The advance in motor and industrial stock prices was checked near the end of the first hour by a huge wave of profit taking and short selling which passed over the whole market and was particularly severe with the high priced issues which had led the spirited advance earlier in the week. The underlying strength of the market was shown in the manner with which these stocks were absorbed.

Continuing the vigorous rally which has been in progress for about a week, International Harvester advanced 4 points to the year's highest price of 146½ in active trading today, the upswing in Leow's carried that stock to 48, only fractionally below the highest price of the year.

Industrial stocks rallied under the lead of the amusement stocks in the final period and the market presented a strong tone at the close. Famous Players sold up 2 points at 118½, while Loew's, Shubert and Warner gained a point or two in active trading. Motor stocks gave a good account of themselves in the final transactions. Oils were irregular.

The week-end business review were generally favorable. Colder weather in the centers of population has stimulated buying of winter clothing, and the advance retail holiday buying is reported at a satisfactory volume.

Industrial stock prices were practically unchanged at the opening of the stock market today. Oils and motors were active. Baldwin Locomotive was unchanged at 162 and U. S. Steel unchanged at 150½, while Du Pont gained a point at 168. Chrysler Motor sold up ⅜ at 38⅜; U. S. Rubber up ⅜ at 60¼; Independent Oil & Gas up ⅜ at 29⅜; Lago, Sinclair, Standard of New Jersey and Phillips Petroleum unchanged. Lehigh Valley sol dat the year's highest price of 97 and Missouri Pacific was up ¼ at 38⅞.

Stock sales on the floor of the New York stock exchange today totaled 911,400 shares; bonds, $6,615,000.

Stock sales for the week totaled 5,776,600 shares; bonds, $77,338,000.

JURORS FIND IN FAVOR OF DEFENDANTS

tion with the unsolved murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills was to be set in motion here today.

Application for bail for Henry and Willie Stevens was to be made in court this morning, following the verdict of a jury that Mrs. Hall and her two brothers were "not guilty" of the murder of Mrs. Mills.

In the long trial just ended, they were specifically charged with the murder of Mrs. Mills. They are still under indictment charged with the murder of Rev. Mr. Hall.

Their cousin, Henry De La Bruyere Carpender, Wall Street broker, is under indictment in connection with both murders. Like Willie and Henry Stevens, he has been confined in the Somerset county jail.

It is understood that application for his bail will also be made today on the ground that the "not guilty" verdict actually included him even though he was not on trial, but was to have been given a separate trial later.

Mrs. Hall Pleased.

The nolle prossing of all charges against all four is now the objective of the "million dollar defense." They expressed the opinion that last night's verdict established the innocence of their clients beyond any doubt, or as Mrs. Hall expressed it, "to not only the people of New Jersey, but all the people of the United States."

Even the famous special prosecutor, Alexander Simpson has announced that he has "washed his hands of the Hall-Mills case" and indicated he would submit his resignation as special prosecutor to Gov. A. Harry Moore, who appointed him some months back to make a thorough and intensive investigation of the murder mystery.

There was every indication today that the Hall-Mills murder case has passed into the long list of unsolved crimes. It is degarded as unlikely that Henry Carpender will ever be brought to trial or that the state of New Jersey will attempt to try Mrs. Hall and her brothers on the indictment charging them with the murder of Rev. Mr. Hall, the only indictment remaining against them.

Shows No Emotion.

Mrs. Hall, who is free on $30,000 bail, spent the night quietly in her palatial home in New Brunswick. She took the verdict of the jury without manifesting the slightest emotion. She was pale, repressed, stoical to the end. She and her brothers came into the court room a few minutes before the jury filed in to report their verdict. The judge had warned against any demonstration.

Not a muscle of her face changed when the foreman said "not guilty." Her brother Henry was equally grave. Willie, however, smiled—he even forgot that he still was a prisoner and shook hands with Judge Frank L. Cleary, who was sitting on the bench with the senior judge, Charles W. Parker, as the little procession of defendants filed out of the courtroom through the judge's chambers.

The verdict was returned at 6:49 p. m., five hours and four minutes after the case was placed in the hands of the jury.

It was said today that the jurors took but two ballots, and that the first one was ten for acquittal and two for conviction.

Review of Case.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Most of the testimony in the Hall-Mills trial, which ended today after one month's march of witnesses to and from the stand was based on events of four years ago.

Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, pretty soprano in the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, who aspired to rise above her surroundings and carried on a clandestine love affair with the rector, the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, was found slain, with him, beneath a crab apple tree near De Russey's lane, on the outskirts of New Brunswick, September 16, 1922.

Her throat had been cut and she had been shot in the head in three places. There was one bullet wound in the head of the minister, who lay beside her. Calling cards of the minister, and letters in which he had declared his affection for her was scattered near the bodies.

They had been last seen alive on the evening of September 14, 1922, when the minister told his wife, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, member of a wealthy and aristocratic family, that he was going out to straighten out a bill which Mrs. Mills had incurred for a hospital operation. Mrs. Mills, leaving her home in a two-family house on a side street, said "follow me and find out," when her husband, James, asked where she was going.

Questioned Repeatedly.

Mrs. Hall and her brothers, William and Henry Stevens, were questioned repeatedly. William, familiarly known as Willie, made his home with her, but spent much of his time at fire houses. Henry, formerly an expert marksman, was living at Lavalette, fifty-two miles away, where he spent his time hunting and fishing.

Three weeks after the killings, Mrs. Jane Gibson, who raises pigs on a farm two miles from the crab apple tree, announced that she had been riding her mule down De Russey's lane that night, had heard shots and had seen Mrs. Hall there. The grand jury in November, 1922, adjourned without having returned indictments.

Rumors of new evidence had become an old story after four years and the arrest of Mrs. Hall, shortly before midnight on July 28, 1926, created a furore. She was charged with the murders and held in Sommerville jail until July 30 when her release in $15,000 bail was ordered. On the same day, State Senator Alexander Simpson of Jersey City, was appointed a special deputy attorney general to conduct the prosecution. Members of the Jersey Police force were brought to Sommerville to carry on the investigation, which had been in the hands of the state police.

Willie Arrested.

Willie Stevens and his cousin, Henry De La Bruyere Carpender, a Wall street broker, were arrested August 12 and denied bail. The April grand jury was suddenly recalled on September 15 and the three in custody, together with Henry Stevens, were indicted for murder in two counts in less than ten hours.

The trial of Mrs. Hall and her brothers began on November 3. Presentation of testimony was completed at noon on December 1, after the state had called 101 witnesses and the defense eighty-four. The hearing of the charges was filed with sharp exchanges among the lawyers.

The state charged that Mrs. Hall knew of the clandestine love affair between her husband and the sexton's wife, and that she and her relatives had committed the killings as much from wounded pride as from the enraged fury of a woman scorned. State's testimony was directed to show that members of the congregation carried reports to Mrs. Hall, that she communicated with her brother, Henry, and went to the scene with him and Willie, to confront her husband with letters written to him by Mrs. Mills.

Mrs. Gibson Taken Ill.

Mrs. Gibson, who had fainted on the opening day of the trial, was found to be suffering from kidney disease and cancer, was brought from a Jersey City hospital to testify in a courtroom which for the time looked more like a clinic. From a cot placed near the witness stand and with physicians and nurses in attendance, she told her story, placing Mrs. Hall and Henry and Willie Stevens at the scene.

When attendants were covering her face preparatory to carrying her through aisles of people to the waiting ambulance she tore away the sheet and raising one arm, pointed at the defendants and screamed: "I've told the truth, so help me God, and you know it." The jury had just been taken from the room.

Three fingerprint experts testified for the state that one of the marks on a calling card, said to have been found four years ago near the minister's feet, was that of Willie Stevens.

Other witnesses told of having seen Henry Stevens in New Brunswick on the day after the killings and of suspicious and incriminating acts by the defendants.

All Three Take Stand.

All three of the defendants went to the stand to deny the charges against them and stuck to their stories under cross examination. Mrs. Hall was subjected to a merciless attack by special prosecutor, who sought to plumb all her emotions with his repeated reference to the husband, who, he said, had been untrue to her.

She maintained that she had had complete confidence in him, that his devotion to her had never changed and that even in the face of his love letters to Mrs. Mills, which had been read into the record together with those he had received from the chorister, she was not certain that he had been guilty of anything wrong.

The defense of Henry Stevens was based on an alibi, while fingerprint experts called by the defense pointed to eight places in which his disputed marks on the calling card did not correspond with the prin of William Stevens' fingers. It was charged that the fingerprint had been an "after thought," placed on the card this summer. Witnesses were produced to tear down and deny the circumstantial evidence which the state had presented and in its summing up the defense pointed an accusing figer at the meek James Mills.

On December 1, when all testimony had been submitted, Simpson made an unsuccessful motion for a mistrial. He charged that the jury had decided to acquit on the second day of the trial, that several members had been asleep during the trial sessions and that they had been improperly guarded.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AND WIFE AIRING FAMILY DISPUTES

vorce, but would seek separate maintentnce.

The statements follow:

Mr. Chaplin's: "I have read Mrs. Chaplin's accusations of cruel and inhuman treatment.

"Such absurd accusations I emphatically deny.

"I have done everything possible to make Mrs. Chaplin happy in a rational way. My sole desire has been to maintain a sane and peaceful, happy home for my wife, my babies and myself, and I have done everything possible to contribute to this.

"I surrounded her with every comfort and granted her every desire. Her mother lived with us, in fact her whole family had the free run of my house. If this constitutes cruel and inhuman treatment then I do not know the meaning of the words. Immediately after our marriage I allowed her unlimited credit with all cafes, hotels and stores in the city. Perhaps gratifying these tastes was a mistake as these privileges have been abused.

"Very often I have returned from work only to find that she had been out all day, leaving the babies alone with the nurse, or on other occasions I would find a party of strangers at my home to whom I had never been introduced.

"I have lived in Los Angeles fifteen years, and believe I have gained a large number of interesting friends. These friends loyally welcomed Mrs. Chaplin upon our marriage. I have given frequent dinners and entertainments in my home, believing my friends would interest Mrs. Chaplin—my friends have often entertained us, but Mrs. Chaplin has all too frequently indicated that she preferred friends of her own, whom she preferred entertaining at restaurants and at my home without me.

"I regret the necessity of making these statements, but I will not tolerate slanderous falsehoods from anyone.

(signed)
"Charles Spencer Chaplin."

Called Friends Common.

To which Mrs. Chaplin replied:

"Money doesn't always bring happiness. The fact that he has given me money and arranged credit at the stores was merely his method of attempting to console me for his frequent absence from me and the babies. Nor does his furnishing me with money and credit mean that he was a good husband or a good father.

"Since I have been married to him I have made many of my own clothes and it is only recently I have bought any at the stores.

"As far as the question of friends is concerned, he would never meet my friends as he always insisted they were common.

"He continued to tell me that I should not expect him to spend all of his time with me. He said that he couldn't bear to do so, as I was not intellectual.

"He has threatened repeatedly to make me sick of him as he said that I and my family were yellow. He is now holding the clothing of my babies, of mine and of my mother's at his house and refuses to give it to us."

Reluctant To Answer.

Robison was reluctant to answer and Justice Hoehling stated that it was necessary the witness state what he had told Doheny as the matter might have a direct bearing on the trial.

"Your honor," said the admiral, "I would rather consult with Secretary Wilbur before I answer that question."

At this point, Roberts said: "Your honor, I insist that you enforce your ruling. There had been too much quibbling."

Roberts was equally anxious that Robison testify to the "Japanese war scare" report, as he believes he can turn it into a boomerang against the defense.

Hoehling told the witness to proceed, telling the substance of the report and eliminating any name of a foreign power.

Robison recited his story very slowly. He paused after every phrase, groping for words which would not come within the navy department's "gag" rule.

"I told Mr. Doheny," he said, "about the military estimate of the situation insofar as the navy was concerned, based on existing conditions.

Speaks of Hostile Move.

"I informed him of the details of 'their' increases in strength and preparations for a hostile movement, other than America."

"Do you mean against America?" interposed Hogan.

"I informed him it was necessary for us to move at once to prevent invasion, and I told him that the Pearl Harbor project was necessary as a major portion of this preparation."

"At the conclusion of your conference, did you notice Mr. Doheny's condition?" asked Hogan.

"Yes."

"What was it?"

"He appeared to be considerably agitated."

Reads Memorandum.

Hogan then read a memorandum Robison had sent Secretary of the Navy Denby after his conference with Doheny, in which he outlined the situation with respect to the naval oil reserves.

Hogan next placed in the record a letter from Doheny to Robison under date of November 6, 1922.

In this letter Doheny made a proposal which almost paralleled the lease on the Elk Hills reserve a month later. Doheny called attention to the oil situation generally at the time. He declared the market was flooded and prices were down—although the public was paying as much as ever. Many wells, he said, were being shut down.

In November, 1922, Robison said he got orders from the chief of navy operations to increase the storage at Pearl Harbor from 1,500,000 barrels to 4,200,000 barrels as part of the war plans. This was later provided in the second Pearl Harbor contract signed by Doheny.

"Did you tell Fall about this?"

"No," replied Robison.

"D you tell Bain?"

"I think so."

"Denby?"

"I kept Secretary Denby continuously informed."

This proposal was taken up with H. Foster Bain, then director of the bureau of mines, and A. W. Ambrose, chief technologist, Robison said. Later J. J. Cotter, for the Pan-American company, was called in.

Conferences continued up to the time of the Elk Hills lease on December 11, 1922. Secreary Fall was not present at any of them. Doheny attended only the last.

Robison said he reported to Denby that the Doheny interests would not agree to as high a royalty as he had demanded, but suggested the lease and contract be signed because of the pressing need for additional storage at Pearl harbor, which was a prerequisite to the Elk Hills lease.

"Denby told me to go ahead."

"Did you advise Fall"

"Yes."

"What did he say?"

"He said: 'Go ahead, I can't get any more out of the old man (Doheny).' "

Made Another.

Robison, however, made one more try. At a final conference, at which Doheny was present, Robison said there was a prolonged argument. Finally, Robison quoted himself as saying:

"Doheny, for God's sake, as a friend, arrange this so the navy won't be bilked.'

Doheny, he said, jumped to his feet and declared:

"If there's any talk of being bilked, this deal is off right now."

Hogan took up the questioning again.

"What did you do then?"

"I accepted Doheny's offer immediately."

"And what did you report to Denby?"

"I told him I'd lost out."

Ready For Inquest In Girl's Death

discover whether Clara died by firearms, club or poison.

When this is accomplished the state will seek evidence to substantiate the warrant charges against the girl's sweetheart, who has not been seen since he quit Gale college on September 27, the day after Clara's father threatened him with arrest unless the girl was found.

Four years younger than Clara, Erdman had "kept company" with her for more than a year, but had declined, according to the girl's father, to marry her despite the knowledge that she was about to become a mother. The state today designated a dozen witnesses who will be called before a coroner's jury Monday to establish whether officials were justified in the unusual procedure of charging Olson with the murder before discovery of the body established that the girl was dead.

Father To Testify.

Among the principals who will be called Monday are Chris Olson father of the girl; Erdman's family; Christine Anderson, said to have danced with the youth the night the girl vanished, others at the dance and neighbors.

Detectives employed by Chris Olson hold that the girl was lured by a promise of marriage, taken to a lonely logging road, slain and then hastily buried by young Olson.

The youth's father, however, maintained that his son had nothing to do with the girl's death and expressed the belief that the body was placed on Battle Ridge to direct suspicion to the boy.

District Attorney Earll said today that Sheriff Sherwood was not planning to go to Chicago to view a body in a morgue there. The authorities here attached little significance to the supposed resemblance between the dead man and Erdman Olson.

CANNOT PAY ELECTION COST

cision. Your opinion on this question will be greatly appreciated by the friends of municipal ownership.

"WILLIAM MADGETT,
"Past President of the Nebraska League of Municipalities."

Says Contrary to Law.

To the foregoing communication, the following reply has been sent:

"Lincoln, Nov. 30.—Dear Sir: You ask the opinion of this department as to whether or not it is lawful for a corporation to send its agents into municipalities owning their own water, light, heating and ice plants, and for such agents to deposit with the public officials from $500 to $5,000 for election expenses, and that thereupon the public officials agree to sell the public utilities aforesaid to the corporation for a specific amount agreed upon between the agent and the said officials, providing the election carries, and that no other bid is considered.

"In response we have to say that this department could not approve such procedure. Section 2,321 compiled statutes of Nebraska for 1922, while not exactly covering this situation, nevertheless does prohibit corporations from contributing to the election of officials, etc., and at least in spirit it is to the point.

"Section 2,331 prohibits bribery and attempts to influence any elector of the state and prohibits any threats against such electors or any act which may deter him from voting, and provides a penalty.

"Section 1,938 provides that the cost of the ballot at all elections shall be paid by the city in city elections, and section 1,958 provides that polling places shall be furnished. This indicates to us that the cost of the election shall be borne by the political subdivision holding it, and that no person has the right to influence the election or the voters by agreeing to pay the expenses of the election.

"The law intends that all elections shall be held fairly and openly and without undue influence of any sort. Neither do we believe that the public officials and the corporation can dispose of the property by any means which prevents the city from obtaining the best price obtainable.

"Very truly yours,
"O. S. SPILLMAN,
"Attorney General,
"By LLOYD DORT.

Northwestern Plans Extension In Dakota

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Progress was made at a conference of representatives of the Chicago & North Western railroad, the state of South Dakota, the Belle Fourche irrigation district and the Utah-Idaho Beet Sugar Co., Friday relative to a proposed extension of the railroad line from New Well, S. D., in the Vale region. The sugar company has agreed to build a factory in that region if the line is built, and sugar beet growers and the state are deeply interested in the project.

"I think we can say that progress was made," said R. L. Bronson, secretary of the Belle Fourche commercial club, "but we will meet again, after which we may have something definit to report."

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The area of high pressure and cold weather moved eastward along the northern border of the country to the lake region, bringing zero temperatures to North Dakota and northern Michigan, and a considerable fall in temperature in Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota and western Nebraska, and followed by moderately heavy snow in North Dakota, and Montana. A trough of low pressure extends from the south Pacific coast to the southern plains, and rain has fallen in southern California and Arizona, and is beginning this morning in Kansas.

You Can't Do The Right Thing The Wrong Way

The right thing to do when you lose anything is to discover at once who found it.

And the right way to do this is to let a Star Lost ad put your name and address in the finder's hands.

These little ads are returning scores and scores of lost valuables to anxious owners all the time. An actual checking up of results shows that the service of this paper's Lost and Found Column is hightly efficient.

There's no reason why it shouldn't be.

The chances are all in favor of any particular finder being honest. Your ad and the Star's circulation does the rest.

Star Lost ads don't give worry a chance. Next time you lose anything call Star and ask for an ad taker.

Windy City Mitten Fans Scent New Boxing Scandal

Scribes Hint Something Wrong With Walker Bout

Defeat of Flowers "In the Bag" Before Bout Got Under Way, Declares One Writer; Fans Greet the Referee's Decision With Booes; Principals and Promoters Setting Stage for Return Mill.

BY COPELAND C. BURG.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(I. N. S.)—Chicago seethed today with the prospect of a new boxing scandal.

The decision awarding Mickey Walker the middleweight crown of Tiger Flowers was branded by newspaper writers as "in the bag."

Right down the line, with one exception, sport editors loudly shouted the colored boxer was held up and his headpiece snatched in the dark.

While intimations fell about like a yule fog, the Illinois boxing commission took no steps but refused to deny a report that the "bout" might be investigated."

Referee Draws Panning.

Action toward a probe by the commissioners may be based on the published statement of a Chicago sports editor today to the effect that "he announced on last Thursday the Walker-Flowers fight was 'in the bag' according to reports from New York."

The same writer called the decision of Referee Benny Yanger the "biggest steal in Illinois boxing circles since the famous Gans-McGovern fight."

While the trouble was brewing away, young Mr. Walker enjoyed a belated breakfast over which he smiled.

Smoke Up Return Bout.

"I do not want the title unless I won it fairly," he said. "I will give Flowers a return bout just as soon as he wants it and I don't care where we fight. How about Timbuctoo—aint that a place in Africa? Anyway I think I beat Flowers last night and I can do it again."

Booes For Referee.

BY GENE HOFFMAN.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—While Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., was being hailed today as middleweight champion of the world, vague murmurings were echoing along the sports rialto of things decayed in Denmark.

Walker was awarded the decision over Deacon Tiger Flowers of Atlanta, Ga., at the end of ten stirring rounds at the coliseum here last night. The decision was made by Referee Benny Yanger, who, judging by the crescendo of booing that greeted his verdict, was the only man in the place who believed Walker had won.

Kearns Even Surprised.

No one appeared more surprised than Jack Kearns, Walker's astute manager. But Kearns quickly regained his aplomb and became voluble in declaring that Walker had won every round

Flowers forced the fighting all the way, landed many number of telling blows, and finished the terrific milling without a mark; whereas Walker was cut and bleeding and looked the part of a man thoroughly whipped. By what deductions Referee Yanger justified the decision that took the title away from Flowers remains a mystery to 10,000 spectators who paid a record gate of $90,000 to see the show.

Scribes Favor Flowers.

Although no two newspapermen could be found who agreed on the number of rounds won by either fighter, it was the consensus of opinion in the press box that the decision was all wrong. And that is given without questioning the integrity of Mr. Yanger.

Referee Yanger said he gave the fight to Walker because "Mickey did all the punching and Flowers did not close his hands."

Ninth Was Busy Round.

The ninth round apparently had much weight with Yanger in reaching his decision. In this session Walker clipped Flowers on the chin and the champion went to the floor. With an acrobatic flip, as if made of rubber, Tiger was on his feet before a count could even be started. He wasn't even dazed, and tore right into Walker as though he had not been hit. But Flowers was on the floor, and a knockdown is a knockdown.

It was a fast and furious fight in every round.

Tiger was the aggressor always. He outboxed the challenger consistently.

Tiger, it appeared, had a clean margin in four of the ten rounds. Three of them are credited to Walker, while the othrc three were even.

Meet In 90 Days.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Tiger Flowers, the praying deacon from the southland, has lost his middleweight boxing crown to Mickey Walker, beating back from the Elba of his lost welterweight title, but the referee's decision last night was not seconded by many scribes at the ringside.

Most of the fight critics believed Flowers had the best of the ten round bloody argument in the historic Coliseum, although Walker was going strong in the closing rounds and had the Georgian in the mat in the ninth.

At any rate, the two will meet again within ninety days, under an agreement arranged before the fight and for which Jack Kearns, manager of the new champion, posted a forfeit of $65,000.

Waterloo of Champions.

Chicago is rapidly becoming known as the "Waterloo of titleholders, Flowers being the second champion to drop his crown here, since boxing was legalized some months back, while a third lost his laurels, so far as this state is concerned, by action of the state boxing commission. Sammy Mandell recently annexed the lightweight crown of Rocky Kansas, while the boxing commission named Bud Taylor as bantamweight champion, and barred Charlie Rosenberg from the state when a match between the two blew up.

Flowers manager opined that the Tiger was entitled to the victory, but said the decision was given in good faith.

Claims Foul Blow.

"We had a good referee in there," Walk Miller said: "He decided Walker won, so it must be so. However, Flowers was hit two times and these punches took the steam out of him. Walker has got to fight Flowers again within three months. Kearns has $65,000 up to guarantee it."

Nearly 11,000 persons jammed the Coliseum, paying between $85,000 and $90,000 to see the exchange of titular honors. Flowers received half the gate receipts, less 10 percent to the state commission, while Walker's share was 10 per cent.

Commish Calls Extra Session

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Illinois Athletic commission, charged with the control of boxing and wrestling, met in special session here today to investigate the decision last night of Referee Benny Yanger, in awarding the middleweight championship to Mickey Walker, the former welterweight titleist after ten rounds of vicious fighting with Tiger Flowers, the Georgia negro champion.

The fight was remarkably fast from the start. In the last two rounds, Walker staggered the Tiger at least twice, and once put him flat on his back. This latter episode occurred in the ninth round, but Flowers made a acrobatic recovery to an upright position.

SWAPPING TIME IN BIG LEAGUES

New Managers Slated To Do Some Trading Before Winter Is Over.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. — Within less than two weeks, seven new managers of major league ball clubs, perfectly willing to trade the radish for the horse, will be out there on the flat of their feet at the annual elocution contest and, from all indications, brisk barter in old ivory will be transacted. Most of the boys realize they cant go far wrong in trying to better the hands they hold, for one thing.

For another, a new manager always does something, for better or worse, to his ball club by way of demonstrating his superior acumen. Offhand, Bill Garrigan of the Red Sox; Stuffy McInnes, of the Phillies, and Dan Howley, of the Browns, appeal to the writer as natural demonstrators.

Browns Need New Blood.

Howley has only the hulk of a ball club at St. Louis and, if he doesn't trade some of these hangovers to another club, he won't be giving himself a chance. The Browns are shot. The deposed Sisler has agreed to return as a player but he probably would do better elsewhere, provided anyone was willing to take over his contract. Marty McManus, Oscar Memillo, Harry Rice, Gaston, Giard, Zachary and Ballou constitute good trading material and perhaps Howley will be able to do himself some good at Chicago this month.

He has more to offer than Carrigan, who shares the doubtful honor with McInnes of having fallen heir to the least promising outfit in baseball. McInnes has the better trading margin, at that. He could part with either Henline or Wilson, first-class catchers, and he may do that, rumors of Henline's return to the Giants having been revived. The Phils need about everything but infielders and pitchers most of all. It is unlikely that McInnes would care to talk business for Carlson, Leach, Mokan and several others, they being about all he has.

Carrigan Hard Pressed.

The Athletics and Senators probably would be glad to take Phil Todt off Carrigan's hands while no one would look down their superior nose at Wingfield, Ruffing and Zahniser, young pitchers. However, Carrigan will insist on one thing: He won't start the season unless he can place nine men in the field.

Denie Bush probably will prove a cautious trader since he should have something of a ready-made club in Pittsburgh. The Pirates could use more pitching, at that, and maybe Bush will try to rectify the matter with Barnhart as possible bait. However, that young man blew himself to a bad year in 1926 and the popular clamor for his services may be audible at some distance.

The man who succeeds Speaker at Cleveland also may be hard to do business swith, although if Eddie Collins really is to get the spot, the Indians will have to wangle some kind of a trade with the White Sox. The latter, under Ray Schalk, have an outfit lacking in balance but the trading material is there, including Blankenship, Connally, Thurston, Leverette, Lyons. Mostil and Falk. Mostil probably is out of the question for any club and the Sox would want plenty for some of the others. With Speaker gone, the Indians would welcome Falk but what have they to give that they don't need themselves? Sorry; I'm a trifle hard of hearing.

It is improbable that George Moriarty will want to alter the Tigers, sight unseen. All George needs is to get his pitching clicking along with his hitting and all the writer needs of $99,982.43 and he would have his first million. A trifle more strength at third base wouldn't be unwelcome in Detroit, either. Moriarty has plenty of trading material if he feels the urge, which he probably will not.

McGraw hardly will stand pat on that four-card flush he finished with in 1926. Terry remains an annual trading possibility and it may be that this talk about Frisch playing third base is a lot of soap suds. (Plenty of National league clubs will leap upon the young man with great avidity if he is placed on the block.)

Burleigh Grimes may be offered to the highest bidder by the Dodgers and undoubtedly the Yanks would take someone's shortstop, provided any club in the league was willing to listen to anything a championship club has to say. It is rumored that Collins might come here, provided the Yanks were sure he is good for another season without breaking down and that he doesn't land a managerial job elsewhere.

In other words, New York probably will see Collins when he comes here with a visiting club.

SCORELESS TIE AT WAKEFIELD

Tekamah Presents Strong Defense And Northeast Game Ends 0-0.

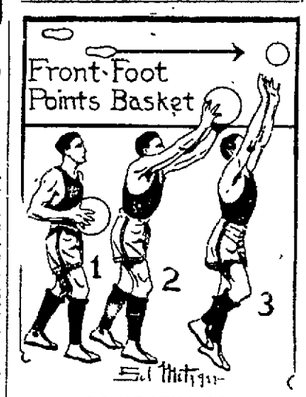

WAKEFIELD, Neb., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Tekamah and Wakefield battled to a scoreless tie yesterday in the Northeast Nebraska high school football championship contest. Crete and Gothenburg, the two other undefeated teams in the state will play today at Hastings, Neb.

Three times during the fray, Wakefield took the ball within ten yards of Tekamah's goal, but each time they lost it on downs when Tekamah presented a stonewall defense.

Captain Lyman of Wakefield was the outstanding player of the game. On two dashes around Tekamah's ends, he carried the ball fifteen and thirty-five yards respectively to within striking distance of the goal. Tekamah made two attempts for field goals and on both occasions only missed by inches.

A strong northwest wind tended to hamper the players. Wakefield business houses suspended work during the game which was declared to be one of the hardest fought and cleanest played games in the history of this district.

Chest Shot Won For Iowa Star

BY SOL METZGER.

McConnell, Iowa's guard, is an excellent shot from the floor. Invariably he uses a chest shot from the middle distances he's so sure in scoring from, as there is far less chance of this shot being blocked by an opponent. All good shooters who use the chest shot first learn the form by continual practice from a standing position. Many use this method for foul shooting.

The main thing to bear in mind in making a basket in this way is to have the forward foot point directly at the basket, with the rear one parallel to it. At the start the player slightly bends his knees in order to equally distribute this weight. Some start the ball from the waist, as in Fig. 1. Others from a position chest high. The shot is made by bringing the hands upward and forward and letting go after the ball is over the head. The eyes are kept on the basket throughout with the palms pointing toward it at the moment of delivery, palms outward. Most players follow through with a slight jump into the air in the line of the shot.

Little English is attempted. Merely hold the ball in the fingers at the start with the palms pointing toward each other. That gives the ball enough spin. Drop the ball from above into the basket.

HABERLAN WILL LEAD HAVELOCK

End Chosen As Captain Of 1927 High School Gridsters.

Havelock high school held its annual football banquet in the high school gymnasium Friday evening. About 125 people were present. The affair is one that is traditional at Havelock high school and this year it closed a very successful season for the Shop Town eleven.

Jimmy Lewis a graduate of the class of 1916 and a former member of the Nebraska track team was toastmaster of the occasion. The theme of the toast was in connection with the champion team of the Greater Lincoln League. Cecil Stanley, captain for this year, spoke for the team and of its past work. Glenn Barrett and Robert Gail also talked in behalf of the squad and explained the problems that arose on the field. Supt. H. E. Tyler spoke in behalf of the school and Dr. P. L. Evans for the townspeople. Coach Walter I. Black gave a review of the present season and then introduced the captain-elect Arthur Haberlan. Haberlan was stationed at a wing position during the season and was one of the mainstays in Coach Black's line.

Letters To Nineteen.

Mr. Black then presented the letters to those members of the team that had earned them. Nineteen players were awarded this coveted prize. They are Capt. Cecil Stanley, Don Morrison, Robert Gail, Tom Kepner, Robert Venner, Howard Jones, Captain-elect Art Haberlan, Harold Shipman, Wayne Warga, William McKinney, Shell Warga, James Ross, Harold Gilman James Keager, Harry Reynolds, Howard Barrett, Kenneth Kling, Don Bowers, Kenneth Weaver. Henry Pickard was given a reserve letter and Clyde Long the student manager a letter. Doris Marshall and Carol Taylor received cheer leader emblems.

Stanley, Barret, Morrison, Gail, Kepner, Venner, and Jones are the only men lost by graduation leaving twelve letter men for Coach Black to build on next season.

Hoppe Is Victim Of Foul Tactics

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Willie Hoppe will retire from three-cushion billiards tonight, a victim for the second time of table cloth—slashing which he claims has been aimed to handicap him at crucial periods of his play.

The veteran balk line star announced that he never again would engage in a three cushion contest when the green baize of a table on which he has been playing a 600 point match against Gus Copulos of Detroit was found to have been so badly cut by an unidentified person that a new cloth had to be laid last night.

Table Covering Slashed.

In the spring of 1925 Bob Cannefax cut the cloth of a table on which he was playing Hoppe. Cannefax, claiming that the original covering of the table had become too slow for his shots, was suspended for a year by the three-cushion league, after admitting the slashing.

Last Night's Fights.

At Chicago—Mickey Walker, former welterweight champion, won the middleweight championship from Tiger Flowers, 10 rounds. Jackie Williams, Chicago, beat Harry Robart, six rounds. Walcott Langford, Chicago, knocked out Jack Elkgart, Dallas, Tex., fourth round. Chuck Burns, San Antonio, Tex., and Babe McGorgurie, Oklahoma, drew, eight rounds. George Godfrey, Chicago, scored a technical knockout over Cowboy Billy Owens, eight rounds.

At Erie, Pa.—Jimmy Mendo, Cleveland, beat Leroy Dougan, New Orleans, 10 rounds.

At Eau Claire, Wis.—Ray Williams, Chicago, knocked out Cyclone Rogers, St. Paul, second round.

At San Francisco—Joe Woods, Los Angeles, knocked out Frankie Campbell, San Francisco, fifth round. Frankie Logan, New York, beat Billy Burke, San Francisco, six rounds. Abe Cohen, New York, beat Red Ross, Santa Rosa, four rounds.

At Tampa—Charlie Weinert, Newark beat Sergeant Jack Adams, New York, 10 rounds.

BUSY CARD FOR LINCOLN SQUAD

Quintets From Three States Appear On Red and Black Slate This Winter.

Coach Browne's cagers at Lincoln high have started their daily workouts in dead earnest with a good scrimmage the last two nights. As yet they are a little handicapped by the smallness of their own gym but by next week it is hoped that arrangements will have been made whereby the practices for the first and second teams can be held at the Whittier Junior high school gym, the scene of all the home engagements.

Speaking of engagements, Lincoln high will carry the colors of Nebraska to foreign fields during the basketball season the same as in football. Although they will not engage with any teams so far away as the Toledo and Chicago high schools, nevertheless the teams that they play will give them just as much prestige should they emerge victorious.

Will Play Kaysee Five.

The teams outstate that will require considerable attention are Northeast high of Kansas City. The Kaysee five will invade the Red and Black camp Feb. 5. Attempts were made to schedule a game with Central and Westport of the same city but the dates could not be arranged. The Lincoln hoopsters locked horns with these two schools last season on the K. C. court losing one game and winning the other.

East Senior high of Sioux City, Ia., is on the schedule as is another team from the state, Fort Dodge. The Dodgers failed to solve the attack of Dutch Witte and his mates last year and were sent home with the small end of the argument. This will be a two-day trip for the Browneimen inasmuch as they play Fort Dodge Jan. 20 and on the following night go to Sioux City. Lincoln high will resume athletic relations with St. Joe Central playing two games with the Josies on their own court. Lincoln entertained the St. Joe Quintet last year by taking a double header from them.

Lincoln will open the cage season at Omaha, playing Coach Patton's Packers of South high Dec. 17. This is unusually early for Lincoln high and they have only wo weeks in which to round into shape. Coach Browne is at the present time negotiating with Omaha Central and Tech, Creighton Prep, Hastings, Crete, Grand Island, West Point, Ravenna and Beatrice and hopes to arrange some suitable dates with these schools.

Booth Will Lead '27 Doane Squad

CRETE, Neb., Dec. 4.—B. L. Booth, a tackle from Sutton, was elected Captain of the 1927 Doane Tigers at a meeting of the letter men yesterday. Booth is a junior and has finished his third season in Tiger togs. He has been prominent in various "all-state" and "Honor Roll" selections. In addition to his football ability he has been a good all-around performer on the state championship track teams here during the past two years. He was the only contestant to place in three events in the 1926 state meet.

Football letters were granted to the following men of the 1926 squad:

Captain Adams, Crete; Captain-Elect Booth, Sutton; Ex-Captain Bayer, Crete; Harold Park Crete; Paul Taylor, Crete; Wilfred Alf, Grafton; Stanley Hopper, Stanton, George Balwin, Crete; Ray Alf, Grafton; Glenn Jelinek, Crete; Fred Rezabek, Wilber; Dale Jimmerson, Liberty; Charles Sanderson, Clay Center; Carl Warkow, Crete; Phil Taylor, Crete; Gerald Parker, Crete; Herbert Spielman, Sutton; Raymond Swanson, Benedict; William Scheer, Harvard; Gilbert Nixon, aFirfield; Ralph Heckenlively, Fairfield; Everett Ellis, Clay Center; Tom Kuzelka, Wilber; Earle Best, Crete; Glenn Gillaspie Cortland, Student Manager.

Six of these men—Adams, Bayer, Paul Taylor, Park, Wilfred Alf and Hopper—will be lost by graduation. This still leaves a strong group of experienced letter men for next year's football team.

SWEDES-CRETE SET FOR GAME

Large Crowd Expected To Watch High School Team at Hastings Field.

HASTINGS, Dec. 5.—(AP)— The "Terrible Swedes" of Gothenburg and the heavy Crete eleven, both confident because of their records in going through a season without defeat, waited the starter's signal which will send them into an important high school football battle on the Hastings college gridiron this afternoon.

Today's game is billed for the mythical Nebraska high school football championship, especially in view of the game between Wakefield and Tekamah high schools at Wakefield yesterday which resulted in a scoreless tie. These teams have not been defeated all season, although their records are now somewhat marred by Friday's tie game.

Both Gothenburg and Crete have made impressive records this season, running up heavy scores and yielding but few. Given an even break by the weatherman, the two elevens probably will uncork their famed forward passing and end running attack. Crete will hold the weight edge over the Swedes, who have many supporters who point to the fact that they played a harder schedule.

Special trains from North Platte and Lincoln are expected to bring a large crowd of rooters from all parts of the states.

College Honor Roll Is Sunday

The Lincoln Star sports department will present its 1926 Nebraska state conference football Roll of Honor in the Sunday edition of Dec. 5. Positions on the Roll are awarded after a compilation of balloting by coaches and officials. Comment on the players selected will be written by Gregg McBride of the Star sports staff.

The 1926 high school Roll of Honor will appear in the edition Sunday, Dec. 12.

ROCKNE'S IRISH SET FOR BATTLE

Notre Dame and Southern California On Edge For Game.

BY MILLER HOLLAND.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 4.—(I. N. S.)—In Rome on Saturday afternoons the populace was won't to remark that should the Coliseum fall, Rome likewise would take a tumble.

It was the same thing in Los Angeles today. Should the great Southern California Coliseum fall it would be more than a national calamity. It would be chaos—nothing else but.

Thousands upon thousands of the population of this great and mighty community were packed this afternoon in what Los Angeles thinks is a twentieth century version of the coliseums of old.

And they were all packed for one great, unanimous reason.

To behold something the old Romans never beheld—

Colorful and Spectacular.

One of the most colorful and spectacular football battles ever fought on American soil—or any other soil in this world, for that matter.

It was the emighty spectacle of Notre Dame versus the thundering Trojans of the University of Southern California.

And, ladies and gentlemen and brother Elks, it was some spectacle.

Crowd of 90,000.

The battle got under way at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the presence of more than 90,000 football crazed human beings. And the weather was simply great. Not too hot and not too cold—just right. It was a bit cloudy but the threat of rain had disappeared.

The warriors from Notre Dame were clad in the latest lingerie of the gridiron—silk football panties that were terribly intriguing, to say the least.

Silk Panties, Bare Legs.

But Notre Dame wasn't the only one to appear on the field with an idea all its own. The big, husky Trojans also brought with them something that was intriguing. And it, or rather they were of sturdier stuff than silk.

It, or rather they, were bare legs—absolutely bare, ladies and gentlemen, and in many instances protected only by bristling hairs that didn't gleam only because the sun was not powerful enough.

Bare legs are the raging football style on the Trojan campus, just like silk pants hold sway at Notre Dame.

Odds on Rockne Team.

In spite of the fact that the Irish were in enemy territory and that they have been rambling all over the map all season, they were favored by the odds to win. The prevailing statistics were five to four that Notre Dame would beat U. S. C by at least seven points.

The local citizenry, however, were not at all enthusiastic over these odds and predicted direly that the old oaken bucket would be given a swift kick.

Notwithstanding that both elevens have suffered at least one defeat this afternoon's battle had all the trappings of a national championship affair.

WARM FIGHT IN WESTERN RANKS

Tulsa and Oklahoma City Teams Wou'd Withdraw From Gear Loop.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Western league went into annual session here today faced with a hot fight within its ranks, brought about by the proposal of Tulsa and Oklahoma City to withdraw. These clubs have declared they no longer want Western league baseball.

Two years ago the two clubs asked permission to withdraw, offering $25,000 each for the privilege, but the request was refused. This year James Crawford of the Tulsa team intends to fight the question through.

Steps In as Arbiter.

All of the arbitrational ability of the national association of professional baseball leagues' arbitration board was needed today when the question of the purchse of two players by Des Moines from a Texas league club was brought up.

Two years ago Lee Keyser, owner of the Des Moines team, bought the players for $12,000 and sent his check through Secretary Farrell of the national association. Farrell held the check in his office and, meanwhile, the bank holding Keyser's account failed.

The point to settle is, were the two players really sold: if they were, who bought them? And, if they were paid for, who took the money and where is it?

Dwarfies Are Coming

Nebraska Football Slate For 1927 Season Complete

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 4.—Following a prolonged session of schedule making which extended well into the wee small hours of the morning, Director H. D. Gish of the University of Nebraska announced that the 1927 Cornhuskers would play a schedule which includes home games with Grinnell, Ames, Kansas, Syracuse and New York and contests away from home at Missouri, Pittsburgh and Kansas Aggies.

In announcing the schedule dates, Director Gish stated that the Grinnell and Kansas Aggie dates were still somewhat tentative but would probably stand. The slate:

Oct. 1—Iowa State at Lincoln.
Oct. 8—Missouri at Columbia.
Oct. 15—Grinnell at Lincoln.
Oct. 29—Syracuse at Lincoln.
Nov. 5—Kansas at Lincoln.
Nov. 12—Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh.
Nov. 19—Kansas Aggies at Manhattan.
Nov. 24. (Thanksgiving)— New York U. at Lincoln.

Date-Fixing a Job.

Considerable trouble was experienced in setting the date for the Kansas Aggie game because of a conflict in schedule. The slate gives the Cornhusker again three hard games at the end of the season, Pittsburgh, Kansas Aggies and New York U.

It was hoped by the Nebraska authorities to be able to shift the Kansas Aggie date to Oct. 22 but there apparently was little prospect of doing so.

Although Drake was not on the Nebraska schedule, officials of both institutions vigorously denied a break in athletic relations and expressed regret that they were unable to get together for a contract next fall. The two schools are considering a two-year contract beginning in 1928.

Husker In Line For Meet.

Directors and coaches of the conference have petitioned the faculty men to vote the indoor track meet to Drake and the outdoor meet to the University of Nebraska. The coaches recommended June 3 and 4 for the outdoor carnival but it is known that May 21 and May 28 are also under consideration.

It is practically certain that the Huskers will participate in the Illinois relays Feb. 26, the Kansas relays April 23, and the Drake relays April 30 but aside from these dates and the Valley indoor track meet no dates have been set in the Nebraska track schedule, Gish said.

Six Wrestling Meets.

Six contests are on the wrestling schedule for Nebraska as announced by Director Gish. Five Missouri Valley teams and the University of Iowa will furnish the opposition for the Cornhusker matmen. The wrestling schedule follows:

Jan. 29—Kansas Aggies at Lincoln.
Feb. 5—Missouri at Columbia.
Feb. 11—Iowa State at Lincoln.
Feb. 19—University of Iowa at Iowa City..
Feb. 25—Kansas at Lawrence.
Mar. 3—Oklahoma at Lincoln.

Aggies Run Into Snag.

It is apparent however that several of the valley coaches were none too pleased over the record of the Oklahoma teams particularly the Aggies whose recent defeats at the hands of non-conference opponents were looked upon as reflecting upon the standard of the Valley circuit.

The following was reflected in the difficulty experienced by the Aggies in booking games and today only three conference opponents had been scheduled, Oct. 1, Oklahoma university, Nov. 19, and Kansas Aggies, Nov. 24. None of these games will be played at Stillwater.

Many coaches today expressed themselves as favoring the "Big Ten" conference ruling on the shift play requiring a two-second stop after a shift. This problem is one of the many to be considered by the faculty committee.

Bears Off Tiger Book.

DES MOINES, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The oldest traditional football rivalry in the Missouri Valley, between the two leading schools of Missouri Washington university at St. Louis and the University of Missouri at St. Louis and the University of Missouri at Columbia—seems due to be filed away in the histories, with the dates 1891-1926 on the headstone.

Student outbreaks which interferred with this fall's game at Columbia, exasperated the Missouri officials and they completed their eight-game football schedule at the meeting of the conference athletic directors here without signing for the annual combat with Washington. The date of Oct. 15 is open on the Missouri schedule, and efforts continued throughout the night to achieve some arrangement which would permit the historic series to go on. A ninth game would require the specific approval of the Missouri Valley conference faculty advisers, but whether their sanction will be sought, depends upon the persistent efforts of Washington officials to soothe the Missouri authorities.

The statement of Chancellor Hadley of Washington, after the game, laying the blame upon Missouri added fuel to their wrath, but the chancellor is said to be ready to make public amends if that will calm the troubled waters.

No Break In Relations.

Coach Edmonds of Washington refused to be discouraged by the uncompromising attitude of the Missouri officials and consulted the athletic board at St. Louis over the telephone for their help in straightening out the controversy.

Athletic Director Brewer of Missouri was quick to say that the failure to include a Washington game on the football schedule for next year did not mean a break in athletic relations between the two schools as they will meet this winter in basketball and next spring in baseball, but he felt that the animosity aroused by the gridiron trouble should be permitted to die away. It was the decision of the Missouri Athletic board, he said, not to play Washington football next fall.

16 Non-Conference Games.

The athletic directors expected to complete their track schedules today if the faculty advisers approve the dates of June 3-4 for the conference outdoor championship at Nebraska. With these out of the way, committees for next year are to be appointed, and proposals for changes in rules to be discussed.

The football dates announced yesterday bring the Valley teams 16 big non-conference games with eastern, middle-western and southwestern teams.

Five Eastern Elevens.

Syracuse, Navy, Pittsburgh, New York U. and West Virginia are the eastern representatives and perhaps the Army, if they accept the offer of the Kansas Aggies.

Five games with Big Ten schools have been arranged, in addition to contests with Notre Dame and Marquette, in the middle western group. Texas and Southern Methodist university will receive two Valley teams next fall.
